Kingsford-Smith In California After Fast Pacific Flight

Pilot and Navigator P. G. Taylor on Field at Oakland 14 Hours and 59 Minutes After Take-off From Honolulu; Welcomed on Completion of Flight From Australia

Pilot Says His Plane World's Best

Los Angeles, Nov. 5.—A trans-Pacific flight of more than 7,000 miles went into the flying records of the Australian aviator, Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, today following completion of an epoch-making flight from Brisbane, Australia, to California. Backtracking the route he flew in 1928, the British knight of the air landed at the Oakland, Cal., municipal airport early yesterday, completing a 2,408-mile flight from Honolulu in 14 hours and 59 minutes. The aviator set his blue and white monoplane, Lady Southern Cross, down on the field at 7.44 a.m., Pacific standard time, and apologized to a small group of spectators for his "early arrival."

Sir Charles, the first to make an airplane flight from the Hawaiian Islands to the United States, credited his navigator, Captain P. G. Taylor, with making it possible for them to arrive nearly two hours ahead of schedule. After resting a few hours, the two flew here, another 340 miles. Sir Charles disclosed that the plane is not considered airworthy in Australia. This was brought out when Capt. Robert Lorraine, British Great War ace and the first man to fly from England to Ireland, wondered if Sir Charles' wife was not jealous of Lady Southern Cross.

"She has no cause to be," said Sir Charles. "I am glad to see her in Southern California." "It is curious, but the Australian air regulations have proved her un-airworthy and she therefore was unable to sell her there."

"I want to give all the credit for getting us safely here to my friend and fellow flyer, Bill Taylor," said Sir Charles. "Bill picked out those tiny spots in the middle of the Pacific that looked like fly specks on a map. He never missed a spot. If it had not been for his wonderful ability and good fellowship the flight might not have been possible. You know the Pacific is a bit of a sea."

Sir Charles said he had no plans beyond resting—and selling the Lady Southern Cross, a low-winged, Los Angeles-built monoplane.

Sir Charles is the only man who has flown both ways between the United States and Australia.

REVENUE DRIVE IS SPURRED ON

Special Collectors and Auditors Chosen to Speed Up Provincial Campaign

Reorganization of taxation and collection staffs of the B.C. Department of Finance will be completed this week, Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, said this morning. Already there has been a gratifying reaction to the department's drive for back revenues, Mr. Hart said. Especially in the income tax, gasoline and fuel oil returns the increase has been marked.

In the Vancouver assessor and collector's office the department has taken on nine special collectors temporarily to assist in catching up with back work on the gasoline and fuel oil taxes. The collection of fuel oil tax at present entails considerable extra work as a large number of individual accounts went into arrears while the legislation was in dispute before the courts.

To check up on income taxes, twelve temporary auditors are now being chosen. They will also work from the Vancouver office. Arrears of income tax run into several hundred thousand dollars, and effort will be spared to make the collections from those who are able to pay.

WILL CALL PASTOR

Sarah, Oct. 5 (Canadian Press).—Rev. J. M. MacGillivray, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, Vancouver, may receive a call to the pastorate of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here. The congregation will meet this evening to decide on filling the vacant pastorate and Mr. MacGillivray's name will come before it.

FOUR INJURED IN ACCIDENTS

Week-end's Rain Responsible For Crashes; Two Removed to Hospital

Four persons were injured, two being removed to hospital, in accidents Saturday evening and yesterday, which were attributed to poor visibility caused by the heavy downpour and the slippery condition of the roads. Those injured were: John Seath, Tanner Road, in St. Joseph's Hospital, suffering from a fractured skull and concussion; Alex Sutherland, in Jubilee Hospital, suffering from a fractured skull and concussion; Macer Okamoto, Whittier Avenue, young Japanese cyclist, suffering from knee cuts and abrasions; P. Homan, 749-Burdet Avenue, suffering from torn leg ligaments and cuts about the head.

Mr. Seath was injured in a collision on the East Saanich Road about 12.30 o'clock yesterday morning when his car sideswiped another proceeding in the opposite direction and careened into a telephone pole, breaking it at the base. According to the Saanich police, Mr. Seath, with his wife and a small boy passenger, were driving north, near Elk Lake. He collided with R. W. Todd, 1449 Grant Street, who was driving towards the city. Owing to poor visibility, the drivers did not venture too near the side of the road. After the impact Mr. Seath's car careened to the wrong side of the road, as did Mr. Todd's machine. The Seath car came to a stop after hitting the pole, which fortunately was held up by the wires and did not fall on the car. The Todd car came to a rest against a tree in a ditch. Both cars were badly damaged. Mr. Todd was only slightly shaken.

Sgt. P. E. Cummings and Constable J. Bull of the Saanich police attended and removed Mr. Seath to St. Joseph's Hospital, where Dr. J. S. McCallum attended him and he was able to leave shortly after.

Approval Of U.S. New Deal Predicted

General Expectation Is Democrats Will Continue To Control Congress After Elections To-morrow; Sinclair in Great Fight in California

By SAM ROBERTSON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer
New York, Nov. 5.—"Democratic control of Congress assured." These words, in the arch-Republican New York Herald-Tribune, summed up the general belief of what will be the outcome of to-morrow's elections in the United States. All sides predicted the New Deal policies of Democratic President Franklin D. Roosevelt will be approved.

The elections are to name the full House of Representatives quota of 435 members, thirty-four federal Senators, thirty-three state governors and a wide assortment of other state officials.

In the last Congress Roosevelt Democrats numbered 309 representatives and sixty senators, against 111 Republican representatives and thirty-three Republican senators. The consensus is the Republicans might add thirty seats in the House and drop six Senate seats.

In an "off-year" election such as the current one—"off-year" ballots being cast every two years as against "presidential year" balloting every four—the normal swing back to the main opposition party is seventy-five House seats. Republicans estimate their prospective minimum gain at thirty seats. Anything less than that is a surprise.

U.S. DOLLAR IN LONDON

London, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—The United States dollar lost 1 1/2 cents to the pound sterling here today, closing at $4.99. The price of bar gold declined 3 1/2 pence to 139 shillings 6 1/2 pence ($4.75)—a fine ounce.

ATTACK WOMEN WHILE ASLEEP

Housebreakers Are Suspected; One Woman in Jubilee Hospital

While they slept during the early hours of Sunday morning, two Victoria women were brutally attacked by suspected housebreakers, according to city police reports. Mrs. Lorraine Wright, aged sixty, is in the Jubilee Hospital suffering from injuries she received, while Miss M. Graham, 1206 Douglas Street, reported she was not seriously hurt, although badly frightened. The attack on Mrs. Wright took place just after midnight while she slept in her room at 1937-Blanckard Street. She was awakened by the blows of her assailant and received a blackened eye, a cut over the temple and other bruises. She was taken to the Jubilee Hospital, where Dr. J. W. Lennox attended her. Miss Graham told police she was awakened about 4.25 a.m. by a man stroking her forehead. He was apparently scared off by her screaming. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

Five Hundred Men Walk Out When Demands For Wage Increase Refused

HAUL VESSEL OFF BOTTOM

Nichiyo Maru Dragged Anchors and Ran Aground Off Port Alberni During Gale

After being aground on the muddy bottom off Port Alberni for several hours this morning, the Japanese freighter Nichiyo Maru was hauled off undamaged by tugs at 11.30 o'clock this morning. She dragged her anchors during the severe gale that swept the west coast of Vancouver Island early this morning.

Full details of the stranding could not be obtained in Victoria as all telephone and telegraph wires to Port Alberni were down, following yesterday evening's storm. It is not believed the ship was badly damaged, however, although she stood firmly in the mud.

SALVAGE KING NER

The Pacific Salvage Company's steamer Salvage King, which is on the west coast of the island, salvaging the damaged fish boat Chuckwalla was ready to proceed to the aid of the Nichiyo Maru, if she was wanted. A. C. Burdick, managing director of the Salvage Company, said this morning. The Nichiyo was stranded only a few feet from shore and in full view of the townsite. She reached Port Alberni Saturday from Los Angeles and anchored in the stream, waiting to load a lumber cargo for Japan. Despite extra anchors and lines, the

Fire Ship Captain Pleads Not Guilty

Capt. W. F. Warms

Associated Press
New York, Nov. 5.—William F. Warms, who was acting captain of the liner Morro Castle when it burned off the coast of New Jersey on September 8, pleaded not guilty today to charges of negligence brought against him by the U.S. Steamboat Inspection Service.

Capt. Warms and four other officers of the Morro Castle went on trial before inspectors of the New Haven district of the Steamboat Inspection Service of the United States Department of Commerce. The inspectors have no criminal jurisdiction. They will merely determine whether the licenses of the officers should be suspended or revoked.

The picture above shows Capt. Warms, with his hand bandaged, as he appeared soon after landing from the burned ship.

GASTON MENIER DIES IN PARIS

Associated Press
Paris, Nov. 5.—Senator Gaston Menier, seventy-nine, the "chocolate king" of France, died at his home in Paris.

Senator Menier was well known in Canada, for he once owned Anticosti Island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, selling it, however, in 1926. He was kicked and beaten by Paris mobs during the rioting last February in the French capital, but announced later that he had not been hurt.

Refusal of Canadian Collieries Ltd. to Consider Five Per Cent Raise For Haulage Crews Results in Calling of Strike at Mass Meeting; Mines Picketed

Government Aid Is Not Sought

Assistance from the Provincial Department of Labor is not wanted by striking coal miners at Cumberland, Nov. 5.—Five hundred miners are on strike here to-day following the refusal of the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd., to grant wage demands and working concessions. The employees of the Canadian Collieries declared a strike at a mass meeting here held last night, the walkout becoming effective at 11 o'clock. Strike pickets were immediately posted to warn all employees who had not attended the meeting that the strike was on.

Special to The Times

Cumberland, Nov. 5.—Five hundred miners are on strike here to-day following the refusal of the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd., to grant wage demands and working concessions. The employees of the Canadian Collieries declared a strike at a mass meeting here held last night, the walkout becoming effective at 11 o'clock. Strike pickets were immediately posted to warn all employees who had not attended the meeting that the strike was on.

Apart from the picketing, all is quiet at the mines, and it is not expected there will be any violence. The situation may be changed, however, if any attempt is made to import strikebreakers.

The strike vote taken last Wednesday decided against striking by a majority of forty-two, 222 voting to walkout and 264 restraining to remain at work, with seven spoiled ballots.

THINK CONCESSIONS GRANTED

The mass meeting was arranged Sunday to complete the terms of the agreement. A number of minor concessions were granted by Col. C. W. Villiers, general manager of Canadian Collieries Limited, but not the 10 per cent raise asked. The haulage crews numbering about 120 men protested that their case had not been given proper consideration. They are alleged to be the lowest paid on underground work. They asked a 5 per cent raise and refused to go back to work unless they got it. The men of the haulage crews were 100 per cent determined in their stand.

WAGE RAISE REFUSED

A committee met Col. Villiers, who refused to consider the 5 per cent raise. The committee returned to him several times with proposals. It is reported, in an effort to come to an amicable settlement, but without success. The remainder of the employees finally passed a resolution affirming that they would not expect a raise and would be willing to sign an agreement for whatever terms were required, if the management would grant the haulage crews the 5 per cent raise. Col. Villiers, it was stated, refused to consider this on any terms.

The haulage crews thereupon refused to return to work, and the strike was called involving all the employees.

The railroad engineers and crews worked Sunday night and this morning to comply with the railroad regulations and drew the fires on the locomotives.

The pump and maintenance men will be permitted to work by the strikers.

KILLS WIFE; SHOOTSELF

Double Tragedy Near Williams Lake Is Reported to Provincial Police

A murder and suicide at Spring House, twelve miles south of Williams Lake, were indicated in provincial police radio messages received today. The reports stated that Dr. D. Roberts was shot dead early yesterday morning in her home. Her husband was found outside the building apparently suffering from a self-inflicted wound through the chest. He was rushed to hospital but died at 6.45 a.m. A letter and dying declaration pointed to family differences and jealousy as being the cause of the tragedy.

Shifting of Men From the Prairies to B.C. Camps Draws Criticism

Provincial authorities to-day were concerned over reports the National Department of Defence intended to move a large block of unemployed men from the prairie provinces to unemployment camps in British Columbia, which the department administers.

This procedure, it was pointed out, can only result in swelling relief ranks in this province for the reason that men leaving the camps usually come to the Coast. While not drawing relief from the province, they offer competition with British Columbia residents for existing jobs, and increase the difficulties of the situation.

These circumstances are being drawn to the attention of the federal authorities.

TRIFLING INCIDENTS

"The incident was so trifling as to be ridiculous. I shall tell you about it now. One day during the campaign I was given a letter which might possibly have given me some advantage over my opponent."

"I did not know how the letter was secured, but afterwards I heard someone had tried to lay a charge of receiving stolen goods against me. But the clerk of the court thought the charge was so ridiculous he would not even issue a summons. That is what these people are trying to dig up now."

Ex-Minister States Efforts Made to Damage His Character

Toronto, Nov. 5.—Hon. H. H. Stevens, former Minister of Trade and Commerce, told newspapermen today "certain financial interests" had employed investigators in an attempt to "get something on me."

The former chairman of the parliamentary mass buying committee said he had not taken the investigation seriously, although "it is a fact that I was trailed all the time during my last two visits to this city."

He said also that "certain Toronto interests" had employed investigators in an effort to obtain damaging stories concerning his past from Vancouver.

"I know definitely," he said, "that men were sent to Vancouver and out there they offered $5,000 to one man and $2,000 to another in an effort to obtain affidavits about an incident which happened during an election campaign some time ago."

STEVENS GOES INTO PULPIT

Ex-Minister of Trade Addresses Ottawans on Big Companies' Responsibilities

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—Hon. H. H. Stevens, former Minister of Trade and Commerce, took to the pulpit yesterday evening to criticize the control by corporate interests of the economic life of Canada.

He said: "Thousands of people in Canada are suffering day by day, month by month and year by year, because there is at the head of the big corporations in this country an ice instead of a human soul."

The former minister, talking from the pulpit of the United Church, lashed out against those to whom he attributed responsibility for low wages paid in industry and appealed for the application of Christian principles to Canada's economic system.

"It matters little what sort of a social or economic system you have," said Mr. Stevens, "if it has not a real, sound, moral background it cannot contribute much to the happiness of the people."

TOOK A TEXT
The former minister, adopting the practice of the pulpit, drew the attention of his hearers to the text: "Love the Lord thy God with all thy strength... and thy neighbor as thyself." His purpose, he intimated, was to concentrate on the latter portion of the text, for therein lay the whole basis of the marks on "economics and religion."CHRISTIAN STEWARDSHIP
Any conception of religion must take into consideration one's contact with one's fellows, he said. Much had been heard of Hitler and Mussolini and Lenin, but rarely did one hear of the economics of Jesus—the Man of Nazareth. In Christ's precepts were some of the most pregnant doctrines to guide economic life. That relating to Christian stewardship should be more widely taught. One of the greatest concepts of sociology ever given to the world was that all wealth was a trust.

That fact did not interfere with the capitalist or any other system. All it meant was that if a person was to command wealth, he must exercise it in the interests of all the people. The fact ran through all Christian doctrine that wealth and trusteeship were a trust.

If, then, all wealth was a trust, it followed that the greater the wealth the larger the responsibility.

Communication On Island Disrupted By Week-end Storm

Despite many difficulties, the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Ltd. maintained all its services to the upland points.

On the West Coast of Vancouver Island several small boats were reported to have suffered in heavy seas while others were able to reach safety with little damage.

No lives were reported lost.

TREE DOWN ON ROAD
Traffic was tied up on the West Saanich Road for a while this morning before municipal works crews got busy removing an alder tree which fell across the roadway near the railway station.

In the city the high wind was responsible for a disrupted lighting service in Courtney and Douglas streets for a time this morning.

At the corner of Douglas Street and Hillside Avenue there was a miniature lake caused by the overflowing of a clogged drain.

The poor visibility caused by the downpour was blamed for the injury of four persons in separate accidents in Saanich and the city.

Since Tuesday morning, Mr. Denison reported 2.4 inches of rain have fallen in the city, which is more than half the average for November.

Between 5 o'clock yesterday morning and 5 o'clock this morning 1.42 inches of rain fell, the heaviest fall being recorded between 7 and 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

GALE GENERAL
A moderate gale swept the city between 10 and 11 o'clock yesterday evening when the wind reached a velocity of thirty-two miles an hour. It shifted to the west early this morning and blew for an hour between 3 and 6 o'clock.

The Pacific slope, the wind blowing at sixty miles off the mouth of the Columbia River and off Cape Flattery. Ships along the coast reported heavy rain and big seas. All wireless stations along the west coast of Vancouver Island also said the weather was stormy, with much rain and high winds.

Vancouver, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—Vancouver endured a wet week-end, the wettest known here for many months. A fall of one and six tenths inches was reported over Sunday to bring the year's rainfall to more than thirty-eight inches.

Seattle, Nov. 5 (Associated Press).—Gales, accompanied by heavy rain, earth slides and flooded streets battered the city of Seattle all night, and today there was fear of serious flood conditions at several points.

Last night a sixty-mile gale roared on the Washington coast, and today forty-eight mile gusts were reported in Seattle at Boeing Field.

Rain drenching three feet of fresh snow in Paradise Valley and other high portions of the Cascade Mountains caused apprehension that floods might hit the Puget Sound Valley.

Rivers rose steadily all night and today, but none were reported out of their banks.

Tacomoma reported 2.12 inches of rain in the forty hours ending at 8 a.m. Seattle had 1.44 inches in twenty-four hours.

The Automobile Club of Washington said Chinook Pass was closed by snow slides, and other passes were described as "dangerous."

The State highway department said lowland areas could expect floods unless cooler weather came soon.

HAIL VESSEL OFF BOTTOM

Nichijo Maru was not able to hold against the heavy gale, and gradually worked herself up on the mud bottom.

NEW VESSEL
Owned by the Kawasaki Kisen Kaisha of Tokyo, the Nichijo Maru is a new freighter of 8,200 tons net tonnage engaged in service between Yokohama, New York and Pacific Coast ports. The Yamashita Shipping Company is the British Columbia agent for the vessel.

H. A. Barnett, local marine surveyor, left Victoria this morning when he received news of the ship's stranding. Vancouver surveyors and agents also left this morning for Port Alberni to look into the mishap and make arrangements for repairs, if they are found necessary.

JAPAN TO VOTE BIG ARMY FUND

Canadian Press from Tokyo. The estimates of the War Office and the Navy Ministry and a 148,000,000 yen bond issue for Manchurian affairs are the highlights of 1935-36 Japanese budget as presented today to an extraordinary session of the Okada cabinet.

The budget as drafted by the finance ministry totals 2,142,890,000 yen, revenue, including 604,780,000 yen to be raised by bond issues and a 7,000,000 yen surplus carried forward from this year. (The yen is currently quoted at about thirty cents.)

Expenditures are estimated at 2,042,890,000 yen, which includes 749,220,000 extraordinary expenses.

A summary of the expenditures follows:
Civil list 4,500,000 yen; foreign office 28,860,000 yen; home office 119,560,000 yen; finance ministry 480,080,000 yen; war office 481,100,000 yen; navy ministry 490,040,000 yen; justice ministry 47,950,000 yen; education 144,720,000 yen; communication 188,860,000 yen; overseas 22,160,000 yen; agriculture and forestry ministry 62,800,000 yen; commerce and industry ministry 12,720,000 yen.

Clinton, Mass., Nov. 5.—Four men were killed and another was believed to have been injured today in a collision between a doubleheader freight train and a single locomotive. All were members of the crews of the two locomotives.

John I. McFarland, Manager of Canadian Pools, States Proposed Naming of Supervisor For Winnipeg Futile

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Nov. 5.—Placing a supervisor over the Winnipeg Grain Exchange possessed of limited powers as suggested by the Stamp commission was termed "futile" here today by John I. McFarland, general manager of the Canadian Wheat Pools.

Mr. McFarland was replying to a formal Grain Exchange council statement which had decried the council's willingness to set up a supervisor as recommended by the Stamp commission.

Supervision to be effective must be clothed with authority as well as power to demand and receive from all members instant and complete information, said Mr. McFarland.

The Stamp commission proposal is merely one of suggestion without authority, he added.

The Stamp commission's reference to a supervisor, continued Mr. McFarland, was a suggestion that a supervisor could make a report to the government and that in turn could make inquiry.

"How futile," commented the government's wheat manager, "it would be to suggest that a supervisor, by the stable door after the horse is stolen."

LITTLE VALUE
Answering the council's offer to investigate the books of the Grain Exchange, a southern wheat producer, Mr. McFarland declared "such an investigation of themselves, by themselves, would be of little value to anyone other than themselves," but he had no objection to their carrying on such an investigation.

He had been given a copy of findings of the council after an examination of the books of the Grain Exchange, but the detail and information so necessary to appraise its value were not there.

"What I want to bring about is such control and restrictions as will protect the futures system of the Grain Exchange from influences detrimental to the public interest of this country," said Mr. McFarland.

FIREMAN HELD ON CHARGE
G. McCuaig, Robbed in Vancouver—Picks A. McKoski Out of Line-upCanadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 5.—Picked out in an identification lineup at police headquarters, Arthur McKoski, a city fireman, is charged as one of the three bandits who held up Gordon McCuaig, employee of Gellety and Company, at Granville and Pender streets last Wednesday and robbed him of a $548 payroll.

En route from a bank with the payroll, McCuaig was hustled into an automobile by two gunmen. He was struck repeatedly by his captors and driven to Stanley Park, where he was forced from the car after being robbed. A third bandit was at the wheel of the car.

McCuaig described his assailants, saying one man was wearing spats and a peculiar large ring.

Detective arrested McKoski Sunday in an alleged "spook" operation, noting he was wearing a ring such as McCuaig had described. Placed in an identification lineup, he was immediately picked from a number of others.

Search for other suspects in the case is being continued.

will be construed by New Dealers as a distinct triumph.

RETAINS POPULARITY
Accounting for their optimism, Democrats held President Roosevelt's popularity remains as great or greater than when he was swept into office in 1932.

Republicans call up the fact that 15 to 25 per cent of the country's population is receiving some kind of federal relief. They charge relief funds are being dangled as political bait and smirk: "You can't beat Santa Claus."

CALIFORNIA'S FIGHT
Only here and there in the wide-spread campaign is there interest for him who loves a fight. The gubernatorial scrap in California waxes warm with charges and counter-charges, but to-day the odds are five-to-one the Republican Acting Governor, Frank Merriam, will defeat Up to the Socialist, Sinclair turned Democrat, who would experiment with an end poverty barter plan.

Author Sinclair proposes the state acquire factories and land to be worked by jobless. Enthusiasm for his scheme seemed great until word got around that unemployed were trooping into California by the thousands, while dollars, senting the possibility of Sinclair, took wing.

Almost every one but Sinclair will say he is as good as defeated already. Hopeful to the last, Sinclair told an audience yesterday evening:

"After I am elected governor, if you will bring me evidence of vote intimidation by employers, I will see they are sent to prison to take the place of Tom Mooney."

To-day the tumult and shouting that is a United States election campaign is all but stilled, while party workers personally coax voters out for the morrow. Some 48,000,000 are registered and eligible to vote. Expectations are about 80,000,000 will mark ballots.

There may be the customary matter of shooting, slugging, belching and snoring, but to-day, in a strange silence, life is almost normal.

FOUR INJURED IN ACCIDENTS

Mr. Sutherland was injured while walking east on Hillside Avenue at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening. He was struck by a car driven in the same direction by John C. McRae, Cedar Hill Road, Mr. McRae took him to his home, after which Dr. Walter Bapty attended his injuries. Examination showed a fractured skull and intensive suffering from concussion.

While his injury was serious, his condition this morning was described as being not critical.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE
The young Japanese, Okamoto, miraculously escaped serious injury while walking west on Hillside Avenue at 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening. Benjamin Birch, driver of a car, was proceeding in the same direction as the young man when the lad was thrown to ground by the car. His bicycle was practically destroyed.

Sergeant Cummings attended him and rendered first aid at his home.

Mr. Homan, a seventy-seven-year-old man, fell to the pavement on Courtney Street, after walking into a car driven west by W. L. McIntosh, 1809 Shasta Place, a city police report stated. The accident occurred about 7 o'clock yesterday evening.

Mr. Homan stepped off the curb and hit the side of the car. He was taken to his home, where Dr. George Hall attended him. His injuries included torn leg ligaments, head cuts and a chipped leg bone.

"KINGFISH" IN LABEL ACTION
In his speech, the senator bitterly assailed Ansell, who had acted as counsel for a Senate committee investigating the election of Senator John H. Overton of Louisiana, supported by Long.

Contending he had been injured by the speech on February 21, 1933, Ansell filed suit in the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

Senator Long challenged the validity of the summons served on him, claiming immunity as a member of Congress.

The trial court and the District of Columbia Court of Appeals both held the senator must stand trial.

Long was quoted as telling the senate Ansell "practically forged his own appointment as judge advocate-general" that Ansell had been "denounced by the government as a thief, a scoundrel and a crook," and that he "had been practically run out of the army for fraud."

except the Socialists and Communists would hesitate to take the responsibility for a rupture of the political truce, and then run the risk of political death in the election which would follow Premier Doumergue's promised dissolution of the chamber on a vote of confidence.

The Figaro calls on the government to suppress "preparations for civil war" made by the Communist-Socialist common front. It says it has reports that the group is receiving shipments of arms every week from Belgium, Switzerland, Belgium and Spain. The newspaper states it was reliably informed the common front has hundreds of weapons and quantities of ammunition ready for an uprising which will include "execution" of financiers, industrialists, politicians and journalists.

Pierre Renaudel, Socialist member of the chamber finance committee, told his party convention at Toulon the government measures against the Socialist-Socialist common front group "is ready to defend democracy to the bitter end." He predicted disorders in two weeks.

Rumors of troop movements to the capital were quickly denied by the War Ministry. Officials indicated, however, police would be reinforced by mobile guards.

Premier Doumergue announced he would face the chamber Wednesday with a proposal that credits for three months be voted in order to allow parliament to give all of its time to debate on the changes in the constitution.

The opposition viewed this plan as a mask of parliamentary procedure, designed to cover the real issue—the premier's insistence that he and the President be given the power to dissolve parliament without the consent of the Senate. He has warned that if he loses his first battle he will ask the Senate to dissolve the chamber preparatory to a general election.

Britain To Send No Troops To The Saar

The German ambassador in London had confirmed that the wearing of storm troop and other political uniforms, and the holding of parades and gatherings, would be forbidden by the German government over the Saar for twenty-five miles back from the Saar frontier.

Sir John said further he had been informed that French military dispositions in the neighborhood of the Saar were purely of a precautionary nature.

Sir John said he had been informed there could be no question of the use of external forces unless the Saar Governing Commission was compelled to ask for assistance. There had never been any question of the use of British troops, and nothing of the sort was contemplated.

I have expressed to both the French and German ambassadors the satisfaction of His Majesty's Government with this announcement," the Foreign Secretary declared.

Kingsford-Smith Is In California After Fast Pacific Flight
It was nearly two hours ahead of their schedule the fliers landed on the Oakland field. When the plane came to a stop Sir Charles put his green-smudged face out of the cockpit and spoke a grinning apology.

"I am sorry to be so early," he remarked, "but you will have to blame my navigator, Captain P. J. Taylor." Sir Charles, brushing aside the dangers of the Honolulu-Oakland journey, said the chief worry of the perilous trip was the fear that he and his partner would arrive before their scheduled time of 9:30 a.m.

When Sir Charles, wearing a blue denim flying suit, with a big fur collar, idled the plane up the welcoming stand, there were only three city officials to greet the fliers, but some 500 spectators were already gathered at the field prepared to await their arrival. Among them Harry Lyon and James Warner, who, with Charles Uim, flew with Kingsford-Smith from Oakland to Australia in 1928.

ANSK FOR CIGARETTE
Sir Charles rolled back the cowl of the cockpit.

"I would like to have a cigarette, a bath and then something to eat," he remarked.

Bager hands thrust cigarettes at the aviators, who grinned as the crowd pressed close to the plane.

"I have got the best airport in the world," Sir Charles boasted. "From the time of the take-off at Honolulu, we had no trouble except for fifteen minutes about 11 o'clock last night when we bumped into a rainstorm. That necessitated a short period of blind flying."

The last half of our flight I kept cutting down the speed, throttling down until we almost stalled, trying to get here at 9:30 a.m. That was my chief worry on this flight. Neither Captain Taylor nor myself are tired. The flight was so easy.

"I flew at the start at an altitude of about 6,900 feet and then went between 7,000 and 12,000 feet the rest of the way."

AT 180 MILES AN HOUR
"We started out at 140 miles an hour, then hopped the plane up to 180 miles and flew the last quarter of the journey at 125 miles an hour."

He and Captain Taylor ate only one sandwich apiece of their small food supply during the fifteen hours of flying. There also was a bottle of liquor in the plane, but it had not been opened.

"We didn't need it," Sir Charles remarked laughingly. "Nothing went wrong, we weren't tired and didn't need any stimulant."

TO BROTHER'S HOME
"But I am going to the home of my brother," the pilot added with a wink, "and I hope he passes a highball around. I hope I shall get a home cooked meal."

Sir Charles's brother is E. H. K. Smith, who watched anxiously while his "kid brother" was making the long journey over the ocean.

Capt. Taylor said that a few hundred miles from the California coastline the plane ran into heavy fog and he had to navigate by instruments.

Commenting on the fact he and Capt. Taylor were the first to fly from Honolulu to Oakland, Pilot Kingsford-Smith remarked: "It is not my fault, or Billy's, but that we have the best equipment in the world."

One by one the welcoming officials rushed to the field and greeted the fliers.

"Well, it is very nice for all you people to be out here to greet me," Sir Charles said, "but I have business to do."

GIVEN PROTECTION
"He said he was worried about the safety of his plane, probably because of souvenir hunters, and sailors immediately took charge of it and pushed it into a hangar, where it was fueled for the flight to Los Angeles."

Sir Charles left for Los Angeles at 1:15 p.m., saying he would return here by Wednesday. The plane circled the field, then flew over San Francisco en route to Mines Field at Los Angeles.

When the plane roared into the air from Wheeler Field at Honolulu Saturday at 2:15 p.m. (4:45 p.m. P.S.T.) it was loaded with 800 gallons, or more than two tons, of gasoline. There were still 150 gallons in the tanks on arrival at Oakland.

The Australian pilot remarked that transpacific commercial flights were a possibility in the not distant future, but said the trickiness of the weather, with storms arising in five minutes, was one obstacle to be overcome.

"But air equipment is being perfected," he added, "and it will not be long until we have commercial flights over the Pacific."

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press from Havas).—Australia went wild with joy to-day over the pioneer intercontinental flight from Australia to the United States by their countryman, Air Commodore Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and Captain G. P. Taylor, his navigator.

The London-Melbourne air race participants here also expressed their unstinted praise for the Australian's record transpacific flight.

On being informed of the Australian's latest achievement, Sir Macpherson Robertson, who sponsored the London-Melbourne air race, said:

"No one is more delighted than I am at the remarkable further demonstration of Kingsford-Smith's ability and courage. It is further proof that we are justified in laying down the claim that he is one of the world's greatest aviators."

Japan Buying Iron From Russia

Tokio, Nov. 5.—Japan, which recently concluded a contract with the Soviet Union for importing gasoline, now has succeeded in concluding a contract for importing pig iron from Russia as a result of negotiations between the Pig Iron Joint Sales Company and the Soviet commercial representative in Tokyo.

The contract provides for the purchase by Japan of 40,000 metric tons of pig iron within a year. Action has been taken in accordance with the policy of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry and the Japan Iron and Steel Company in order to meet an anticipated increase in demand, although no immediate lack of supply was in sight.

ARCHBISHOP IS INJURED

Most Rev. A. U. de Pencier in Auto Smash in Vancouver; Miss Eva Hasell Hurt

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 5.—Archbishop A. U. de Pencier, of the Anglican Diocese of New Westminster, and Miss Eva Hasell, Church of England home missionary here, were injured when the car in which they were riding crashed into the centre span of the Cambie Street bridge here yesterday evening.

Archbishop de Pencier was treated at the General Hospital for cuts about the face received from flying glass when the windshield of the car was shattered.

Miss Hasell suffered head injuries. A third occupant of the car escaped injury.

The accident occurred when the archbishop was driving Miss Hasell and another missionary worker home from a mission meeting. The car skidded on street car tracks made slippery by a heavy rain.

SWIMMING DEER LASSOED
Charleston, S.C., Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—There may be many ways of catching a deer, but it is a safe bet few have been bagged as T. Kadoma got his. The Japanese farmer, who lives near here, lassoed a six-point buck from a rowboat while the animal was swimming in the Cooper River. It weighed 175 pounds.

EXHIBIT STATUE BUT BAN PHOTOS

Associated Press
New York, Nov. 5.—The historic statue of the Samos Aphrodite, valued at $150,000, was exhibited at the Fine Arts Exposition in the centre forum, although Rockefeller Centre officials ruled pictures of the rare sculpture could not properly be displayed to the public gaze on Fifth Avenue.

Photographs of the statue were to be placed on the busy avenue front of the building, together with pictures of other exhibits, but the plan was abandoned after complaints were received.

"In other words," one woman dealer commented, "it will not hurt your morals to see the sculpture if you have a dollar to get in."

The sculpture is of a goddess "at the moment she is about to enter a bath, or return to the sea, whence she came."

BIG CROWD HEARS GERMAN BISHOP

Thousands at Nuremberg, Germany, Defy Nazi Ban on Meetings

Nuremberg, Germany, Nov. 5.—Thousands of German Protestants yesterday openly defied the ban on open air meetings imposed by Julius Streicher, Nazi leader, to hear Bishop Hans Meiser, recently reinstated Bishop of Bavaria, whom they accorded a tremendous ovation.

The gathering, announced as a Bible celebration, drew a warning from Streicher's newspaper that "the police will intervene quickly and effectively in case of any misuse of the streets."

The paper Der Stürmer also declared, under the caption "Bishop Meiser Subordinated to the Reich," that his restoration to office "does not mean the old state of affairs has returned."

Attempts to forbid the holding of yesterday's demonstration in front of St. Lawrence's Church constituted the first violation of Chancellor Hitler's church decree and were in contravention of the Chancellor's dictum that he had no further interest in the Protestant controversy.

The church situation became unsettled again over the week-end. In some Berlin opposition circles Bishop Meiser and Theophil Wurm were reported for "capitalizing" by comparing with Dr. Arthur Krieger, Nazi leader of the German Christians.

In an unofficial quarter there was speculation as to whether some friction might be developing in the opposition camp.

Associated Press
Berlin, Nov. 5.—German "third religion," a Teutonic faith movement, appeared ready to-day to emerge, with the state and Der Fuehrer as objects of veneration.

The movement soon will be recognized as an incorporated society to have the same privileges and prerogatives enjoyed by the Catholic and Protestant churches, according to a promise said to have been given by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler to assembled party district leaders in Munich recently.

It was freely predicted by both Protestants and Catholics that many dyed-in-the-wool Nazis will quit the Christian churches and join the new religion.

The new movement resembles Japanese Shintoism, in that Hitler, like the Japanese emperor, and Germany, like Japan, would be objects of veneration.

Germany will also express her willingness to re-join the League of Nations, the correspondent says.

Germany will also express her willingness to re-join the Disarmament Conference, he believes.

The correspondent writes that, according to a well-placed authority on current German policy, the Reich is waiting for that opportunity to reject the provisions of part five of the Treaty of Versailles.

This section limits Germany's army to 100,000 men and her navy to six armored ships of 10,000 tons, twelve destroyers and twelve torpedo boats, and forbids her to have either submarines or military aircraft.

Canadian Press from Havas
London, Nov. 5.—Censorship of news reels is seen as likely here as a result of the showing throughout the United Kingdom of films of the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and French Foreign Minister Louis Barthou.

Numerous protests against the showing of the films resulted in the move. The London County Council proposed that all news films, save those of local events, be submitted to the censorship consulate committee.

REMEMBRANCE DAY SERVICE
London, Ont., Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—Decision to hold London's "Remembrance Day" service "at the eleventh hour" had been announced to-day by the committee in charge. Churches had urged the ceremony be held at 3 p.m., so as not to interfere with regular church services.

GREAT ENGLISH SCULPTOR DIES

Sir Alfred Gilbert Passes in 81st Year; Created London's Eros

Associated Press
London, Nov. 5.—Sir Alfred Gilbert, England's most famous sculptor, often called her poorest businessman, died yesterday at the age of eighty. He had been ill since June, and had barely retained consciousness during the last few days.

His wife, the former Alice Jane Gilbert of Ottawa, predeceased him in 1916.

Sir Alfred became famous over his dispute with public works authorities concerning his familiar statue of Eros in Piccadilly Circus. As a result of it he went into self-imposed exile on the continent in 1907, vowing never to return. He threw up several valued commissions, such as the Royal Academy, where he was an instructor, and went to live at Bruges.

Knowing he was in need, the Royal Academy granted him a $1,500 annuity, but he never touched the money.

At the express wish of the King, Sir Alfred returned to England twenty years later to finish his masterpiece, a memorial to the King's brother, the late Duke of Clarence, at Windsor. Later he rejoined the Academy and in 1932 was knighted by the King.

Sir Alfred once called his statue of Eros "Both my crown of thorns and my crowning glory."

SAYS DEMOCRACY ON TRIAL IN U.S.

Associated Press
Detroit, Nov. 5.—Asserting the present United States Government is "a combination of the progressives of both parties," Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, pastor of the Shrine of the Little Flower, said in an address yesterday the people were looking to neither the Republicans nor the Democrats to rescue our country from this depression.

"These old parties," Father Coughlin said, "are all but dead. Neither pure Republican nor pure Democrat is being held responsible for our release from this depression."

"It is our form of government—our democracy that is on trial. If it fails, dictatorship stands in the offing with its trappings of Socialism."

If President Roosevelt fails, the priest warned, "he will be remembered as the last President of this democratic capitalist nation."

MAINLAND LOSES EX-COMMISSIONER

Seattle, Nov. 5.—Alphonse Dumaresq, forty-seven, former police commissioner of Vancouver, died in a hospital here yesterday evening from pneumonia contracted while he was attending the Pacific Logging Congress here two weeks ago.

He was born in North Dakota in 1887, going to British Columbia when seven years old.

He was elected to the Vancouver police commission which was disbanded in 1932, and the new form made up of two police magistrates and the mayor inaugurated.

The widow, two daughters, Helen and Thelma, and one son, Jack, survive him.

Shingle Output In U.S. Is Increased

Associated Press
Washington, Nov. 5.—The United States lumber code authority has authorized a 50 per cent increase in production of western red cedar shingles for the fourth quarter of 1934. Increased consumption, caused partly by the government's home modernization plan, was cited as the reason for the action. The total allocation will be 1,500,000 squares.

New Insurance Plan For Crops

Premier of Saskatchewan Explains Scheme Proposed For His Province

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 5.—A little reflection on history is a good thing, in the opinion of Premier James G. Gardiner of Saskatchewan, who takes what might be called a common-sense view of the drought and financial problems now confronting his province.

Gardiner has little faith in ambitious schemes for the control of drought or the removal of the population from the dried-out southern areas. Yet he has unbounded confidence in the future of his province. Neither does he look with favor on plans to turn southern Saskatchewan from wheat growing to a stock-raising country.

From his long experience as a farmer and politician in western Canada, the Saskatchewan premier in an interview advanced a few practical suggestions for securing the permanent economic stability of the country which for five successive years has been stricken more or less by drought.

The solution of the problem was the establishment of a self-reliant farming population, encouraged to build up reserves of good crops for the bad ones, reserves of money but, more particularly, reserves of seed grain and fodder. Many of the best farmers for years had followed the practice of keeping one year's feed and seed always on hand in advance of requirements.

INSURANCE PLAN
The crop insurance plan his government proposed to bring into effect would partly take care of this. Each year a certain amount, perhaps the equivalent of one bushel of wheat for every acre in crops, would be collected from the farmers and kept in an insurance pool. One bushel an acre was all the seed required for planting in the dry belt. In a few years a substantial reserve would be built up.

This insurance scheme would be compulsory and would pertain to the land rather than to the individual farmer. This a new man buying a farm would receive the benefit of the reserve built up in the insurance fund for the farm he took over.

DESCRIPTED AS MISTAKE
Mr. Gardiner thought the policy of government relief to farmers was a mistake. A similar situation had been met in a more satisfactory way before through government guarantees to the loan companies. By having the loan companies advance the money needed heavy administration costs were avoided and almost all the money was repaid. The previous government having embarked on government aid, however, this method had to be continued for the time being, but Mr. Gardiner hoped to see a return to the former method.

To those who suggested the country should be abandoned, he pointed out that in one year the present dry area produced 135,000,000 bushels of wheat, nearly 70 per cent of the total amount of wheat Canada is permitted to export this year under the international wheat agreement. Why, he asked, should a wealth producing national asset be scrapped?

U.K. APPLE MARKET
Ottawa, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—The United Kingdom apple market was slow and demand poor, although movement of best dessert varieties was somewhat improving owing to colder weather during the past week.

British Columbia boxed stock sold from seven shillings and sixpence to nine shillings and sixpence for extra fancy, seven to eight shillings for fancy and seven shillings to eight shillings and threepence for Cee grade.

DEMAND SHARE IN MINE TAX

Ontario Insists Dominion Hand Over Substantial Part, Says Hepburn

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 5.—Premier Mitchell S. Hepburn will move towards obtaining for Ontario a substantial share of the taxation on Northern Ontario gold mines. In announcing a determined effort in this connection would be made, the Premier charged before the Twentieth Century Liberal Association Convention Saturday evening that the Dominion Government had invaded a sphere of provincial taxation in taking revenue from these mines.

"We are going to make strong representations to Ottawa, and if Prime Minister R. B. Bennett does not meet our wishes we will make it an issue in the Dominion election," the Ontario cabinet head said. "It will be more of an issue than the controversy between Mr. Bennett and Mr. Stevens (Hon. H. H. Stevens, who resigned as Minister of Finance and Commerce and Price Spreads Commission chairman). The gold mines of Ontario are one of our great natural resources."

"We have taxed ourselves millions to develop the north country. Only recently we passed legislation authorizing the erection of hydro lines in the north. After we had spent the money and encouraged mineral development the Bennett Government steps in and taxes gold mines in this province. It is not right that we should get nothing in return for the millions we have spent."

During his forty-minute address Premier Hepburn intimated he would have important things to say soon. He declared he would have "a lot of disclosures to make when the legislature convenes" and he said he hoped George S. Henry, Conservative leader, would be present to reply.

MORE NEGOTIATIONS
The premier claimed there was a conspiracy on the part of the former Conservative government to conceal the true state of the provincial finances, so as to present a bright picture to the electors. He said hydro contracts obligating the province to take power for thirty to forty years should never have been made.

"We have investigated many of the acts of the previous administration, and we are not through yet. We are not only cutting down administrative costs, but we are increasing our revenues as well," he said.

"I am informed by the Minister of Mines, Hon. Paul Leduc, that the revenue from his department will be $450,000 more than it was last year. And in the Lands and Forests Department, under Hon. Peter Heenan, revenues have increased $300,000 between July 1 and October 31, as compared with the same time last year."

In defending the reduction of the number of civil servants Mr. Hepburn declared his government had found the service overstuffed by 50 per cent.

COURT ADMITS CHILD'S LETTERS
Associated Press
New York, Nov. 5.—The record of evidence in Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt's court battle for her daughter Gloria held letters written by the child at the age of seven and expressing unhappiness over her life while traveling with her mother in Europe.

The letters were described by Justice John F. Carew, who has been hearing the evidence behind closed doors, as the outpourings of an unhappy child complaining to her grandmother.

Under cross-examination Mrs. Vanderbilt said she did not believe her daughter could have written the letters unless put to it by someone else and said some of the phrasing was too mature to be used by a child.

Canadian People's Health Improves

Canadian Press
Halifax, Nov. 5.—Canadians are healthier to-day than they have been for several years, according to Dr. J. S. McEachern of Calgary, president of the Canadian Medical Association, who is here with Dr. T. C. Routley of Toronto, general secretary of the association, after practically completing a Dominion-wide tour.

There were no serious epidemics, Dr. McEachern said. "Vital statistics," he added, "show the mortality rate has been lowered during the last few years."

THE man who wants to provide as well as possible for his family with the least investment will find the answer to his problems in the Imperial Monthly Instalment Policy.

In case of his death this Imperial Policy steps in and enables the family to carry on. They know exactly what income they have and how long it will last. They have an opportunity to make definite plans for the time when this income will cease.

Think of the relief it would mean to your widow to know that for even 5-years she and the children would be provided for.

And this Imperial Policy will also furnish the holder himself with a definite monthly income, should he survive a period agreed upon.

Now, while you think of it, write for further information on this vital subject.

TWO CRISES

THE TWO SENIOR REPUBLICS ARE IN the throes of political crises, one electoral, the other parliamentary. In the United States to-morrow the electors will elect the full membership of 435 in the House of Representatives, thirty-four senators, thirty-three state governors and a numerous collection of state officials of varying importance. The chief significance of this election will lie in its reaction to the Roosevelt policies, for, although local issues will play their inevitable part, it is generally agreed that the New Deal will overshadow all of them in the determination of the result.

It is freely predicted that the Democrats will retain control of the two Houses which compose Congress, although it is regarded as certain that the Republicans will reduce the heavy majority of the administration party in the last Congress. In the House of Representatives the Democrats had 309 against 114 Republicans, while in the Senate there were sixty Democrats and thirty-five Republicans. Unless the Republicans can gain more than thirty seats in the House of Representatives the Democrats will claim that the Roosevelt policies have been triumphantly sustained. Undoubtedly the NRA and its auxiliary policies have alienated a good many electors, but the President's prestige is still strong, while the psychological aspect of bold, courageous leadership is not likely to be lost upon the voters. Against that picture the Republicans are distinctly out of luck.

Members of the House of Representatives are elected every second year, while Senators sit for six years, one-third retiring every two years. The time of the elections is fixed by the constitution, and there can not, therefore, be any dissolution or election with this arbitrary limit as in British countries.

Probably the most arresting feature of the campaign is in California where Upton Sinclair, well-known novelist and former Socialist is running as Democrat candidate for governor. Sinclair's candidature with his End-Poverty-in-California platform has stirred the electorate as nothing else has stirred it for generations. The campaign against him has been unusually formidable. He has been called everything from an anarchist to a pirate, and powerful business interests have devoted millions of dollars and every weapon in the arsenal of party politics to accomplish his defeat.

In some quarters Sinclair has lost ground from the enormous majority he gained in the primaries, and a Literary Digest straw vote recorded heavy losses against him. On the other hand, it should be borne in mind that the element in the electorate which reads The Digest is not the section of the voters from whom he will draw his greatest support. He has two opponents, Acting-Governor Merriam, running as a Republican, and a young lawyer from Los Angeles, running as an independent. Sinclair's chief strength lies in the south where the largest number of unemployed are on relief.

In France Premier Gaston Doumergue is endeavoring to effect vital changes in the constitution designed to give the government greater control over the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate. As in the United States, the dates of the elections are arbitrarily fixed, the Deputies in the French case sitting for four years and the Senate for nine years, with a third retiring every three years; it is impossible for the government to dissolve the Chamber within that period.

Doumergue wants the constitution amended so that the Chamber can be dissolved at any time after the first year without the approval of the Senate. He also wants to deprive the Chamber of the power to initiate any new expenditures unless equal new revenue is assured. Something of that kind is needed in the Canadian Parliament and Legislatures. His proposals have been attacked as manifestations of a desire for a dictatorship, and he has had a stormy time in the Chamber, which so far he has been able to weather. Like Roosevelt, he has been taking his case directly to the public over the radio, and apparently has created a favorable impression.

The fate of Doumergue's policies and his government will be decided within the next few days in the Chamber. Since the dates of elections in France are definitely fixed by the constitution, the defeat of the government in the Chamber on its far-reaching proposals would not mean an election. It would simply involve the appointment by the President of a new ministry.

THE TURN OF THE DIPLOMATS

WE ARE TOLD IN A DISPATCH FROM London that the "diplomats" are going to try to solve the problem of naval matters which are engaging the attention of Great Britain, the United States, and Japan. Japan objects to being held to the original agreement under which she is on a three basis compared with Britain's and United States's five. Her demand is for equality. The two English-speaking nations are not ready to grant it. This is the stumbling-block with which the "diplomats" are to deal.

What decision will be reached is problematical. The fact with which the taxpayers of all three countries are concerned is that the figures on naval expenditure in 1912 and 1934, in millions of dollars, as quoted in a recent book by a British admiral, are as follows:

	1912	1934
Britain	215	270
United States	125	230
Japan	45	200

It had been hoped that the preliminary conversations which are now taking place in London would pave the way for real progress for the naval conference which is scheduled to take place next year; but so far it has been more or less of a wrangle, due mainly, of course, to the demands of Japan and the unwillingness of the other two countries to accede to them. Attention is concentrated on these conversations because the participants alone are great naval powers. Their agreement in 1922 and 1930 averted a prodigious waste of money; it also established a period of peace during which most of the actual naval expenditure of the three powers was wasted.

It will be readily understood that if the existing agreement now collapses and none other is substituted, there will be the danger of a costly rivalry in armaments and a growth of the political friction which both causes and feeds on competition in arms. As far as Great Britain is concerned, she has to contemplate the possibility of continental European nations again entering the field as builders of great battleships. Italy already has announced that she intends to lay down two fighting ships of 35,000 tons each; and while this is entirely legitimate, it obviously will raise fresh difficulties, since France is bound to follow suit. After the war both France and Italy retired from the competition in mammoth battleships. They were wise because no one threatened them, and they spared themselves both expense and bad blood.

As matters stand it will have to be admitted that not much has been accomplished in the cause of disarmament. This Disarmament Conference which opened its sessions nearly three years ago has been a complete fizzle. Practically all the discussion was based on the belief that war is inevitable. Indeed, it was not a disarmament conference, but an armament conference.

A GREAT FLIGHT

SIX YEARS AGO CHARLES KINGSFORD Smith flew from the United States to Australia and thus blazed the air trail of the Pacific Ocean between these two English-speaking countries. Yesterday morning he dropped down from the skies again in Oakland, having made the journey on this occasion from Brisbane. It took him and his companion fourteen hours and fifty-nine minutes to fly from Honolulu to the Californian city across the bay from San Francisco—the first to travel by airplane from the Hawaiian Islands to the neighboring republic. After resting a few hours they took off for Los Angeles, thus they had flown 2,748 miles in considerably less than a day.

The airplane in which Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith made the flight was a Loughlin-Vega made in Los Angeles. She is a low-winged monoplane and her name is Lady Southern Cross. "It is curious," said Sir Charles, "but the Australian air regulations have proven her un-airworthy and I therefore was unable to sell her there. . . . I am going to sell her in southern California."

Sir Charles paid a fine tribute to his flying mate, Bill Taylor, who he says "picked out those tiny spots in the middle of the Pacific that look like fly specks on a map. He never missed a spot. If it hadn't been for his wonderful ability and good fellowship the flight might not have been possible." Then Sir Charles, no doubt with a roguish smile, said to the people who had gathered to meet him: "You know the Pacific is a bit of a sea." But he has conquered her both ways.

UL FROM COAL

THERE IS A CHEERFUL AND OPTIMIS- tic sound about speeches made recently, says The Manchester Guardian, at the inspection of a new plant for coal-distillation by the Cannock process. The methods of splitting up raw coal into oil and by-products are by now scarcely countable. There have been the Bergius process, the Freeman process, the Salerni process, and many others. Some of them have obtained oil by the low-temperature carbonization of coal direct, others by the treatment of tar in the hydrogenation process. Many of them have been entirely successful in a small experimental plant, but experts have often been sceptical of their ability to serve in large-scale production over long periods.

Moreover, The Guardian goes on, the present cheapness of the natural oil and spirit has seemed one main obstacle to effective competition by the synthetic variety. On the other hand, the present government's subsidy of fourpence (eight cents), a gallon is a counterbalancing incentive to manufacturers, for the time being at least. "Hence we have the £1,000,000 plant of Imperial Chemical Industries at Billingham and others. The factory inspected yesterday can handle 150 tons of coal a day, producing from each ton fifteen gallons of spirit and fuel."

The Cannock process, which makes use of radiant heat for breaking up a mixture of coal and tar, seems to have the merit of simplicity, and the experts have declared themselves impressed.

The coal industry of Vancouver Island will note with considerable satisfaction the results of "oil-from-coal" research in Britain.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

FORTY-NINES IN REVERSE
The Baltimore Sun

The market letter writers on the west coast are in a considerable dither over the effect of Upton Sinclair's nomination upon California investments and securities. One San Francisco investment house estimates that State of California bonds have declined more than six per cent since Sinclair's nomination, as against a decline of less than one per cent for the bonds of Illinois. The same firm reports a considerable liquidation of the obligations of the state and its political subsidiaries, which is interpreted to mean that a flight of capital from California is in progress. Declines in shares of California corporations are cited to the same effect.

THIS IS AN ADMISSION
The Winnipeg Free Press

For one thing, western Canada is still a free country, which is something exceptional in 1934. This is probably due to geography as much as anything else, but it is a fact worth noting. There are no bureaucrats here engaged in telling people what they shall do for a living, where they shall live and what opinions they shall hold if they wish to stay out of jail. Democracy survives in a relatively flourishing condition and along with it the liberty of the individual to go where he pleases, express his opinions and exercise his talents in making a living. This is small comfort to the unemployed, but there are no more unemployed here than in countries where castor oil and concentration camps are instruments of national policy.

Loose Ends

Victoria won't stand for 'em cross-eyed and ill-shaped—Mr. Milne has a sound idea—the tail still wags the dog—and education is easy next door.

By H. B. W.

NATURE NOTE

A FEW days ago the billboards of the town blossomed forth with placards for a girl-and-music show which was to play here. The charming advertisements took the form of a gigantic, ill-shaped female, four times life size, loling Cleopatra-like on a sofa, with cross eyes, an ugly leer and no clothes, unless you mean by clothes a band or two of thin material which you could easily put in your vest pocket.

This grisly spectacle, no doubt, had been displayed in hundreds of cities throughout America without attracting objection. But I observed here, after it had been on view for a couple of days, some fellows came along after dark and quietly plastered new placards over most of the beds, allowing only the edges of her to remain in view.

A friend of mine from Vancouver laughed scornfully at this unusual sight and said it was just another evidence of Victoria's smug provincialism and silly Victorian morals. I don't argue with him. No use trying to tell a fellow from Vancouver that it had nothing to do with morals as it might have in Vancouver. No use trying to tell him that Victoria's delicate aesthetic sense, not its morality, was offended by the stark ugliness of the scene. No use telling him that if theatrical comedy cannot possibly answer but, as a matter of fact, it is just another evidence of Victoria's smug provincialism and silly Victorian morals. ENGLISH AUTHOR TO SPEAK HERE

Fred Henderson, Who Has
Great Record in Norwich,
Gives Address on Nov. 27

Fred Henderson, internationally-known author, will deliver a lecture in the Chamber of Commerce on November 27. This British laborite is making his first tour in British Columbia. He is well known throughout the English-speaking world, being a prolific writer on the existing capitalist structure, and possessing a keen analytical mind. Last year he lectured before the Industrial Engineers of the Taylor Society at their annual meeting, on the "Economic Consequences of Power Production," the subject of his recent book.

Mr. Henderson is active in English administrative life, being a member of the Committee of the Association of Municipal Corporations, which deals directly with the British government on matters affecting cities on a national scale. He has also been a member of the educational authority for thirty years, and chairman of the public libraries authority, as well as alderman and magistrate on the city council of Norwich, England, where he resides.

George Bernard Shaw says of Mr. Henderson's lectures: "I am struck with their importance and attractiveness. He not only goes to the root of the matter, but it is understandable—a rare combination."

Because of Mr. Henderson's wide acquaintance with administrative and educational affairs, he has laid a movement to modernize city administration in England.

In spite of many opportunities, he has always declined to enter Parliament because he believes the best service can be given to the nation through its municipal activities.

HERE ON WAY TO HONOLULU

Dr. W. A. Shearer, veterinary inspector attached to the health of animals branch of the federal department of agriculture, stationed at Winnipeg, is at the Empress Hotel with Mrs. Shearer to-day en route to the Hawaiian Islands.

Dr. Shearer, whose duties have to do with inspection of meat and abattoirs, is visiting Victoria for the first time and will sail Wednesday by the motorship Aorangi for Honolulu. After spending a month in Hawaii, Dr. and Mrs. Shearer plan to return to San Francisco and will visit Los Angeles, San Diego and other southern California points, arriving back in Vancouver to spend the Christmas holidays with their son, Robert, who is attending St. John's School in Winnipeg.

James Bay Parent-Teacher Association will hold its regular monthly meeting in South Park School tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. On November 21 at 8:30 p.m. a gift tea will be held in the South Park school auditorium, in preparation for the Christmas bazaar. During the latter event a short programme will be given by the pupils of the school and tea served.

Kidneys Cause Much Trouble Says Doctor

Doctor's Prescription Heals and Cleans
Sick Kidneys—Removes Acids
—Works in 15 Minutes

Dr. C. E. Bendall, well-known Physician and Medical Examiner of San Francisco, says: "Since the kidneys purify the blood, the poisons collect in these organs and must be promptly flushed from the system; otherwise, they re-enter the blood stream and create a toxic condition."

Your blood circulates 4 times a minute through 3 million tiny, delicate tubes in your kidneys which are endangered by drastic, irritating drugs, modern foods and drinks, worry, and exposure. Beware of kidney trouble if you suffer from Night Rising, Leg Pains, Nervousness, Dizziness, Circles Under Eyes, Acidity, or Loss of Energy.

Dr. Walter B. George, for many years Health Director of Indianapolis, U.S.A., says: "Inefficient Kidney excretions are the cause of much needless suffering with Aching Back, Frequent Night Rising, Itching, Smarting, Burning, Painful Joints, Rheumatic Pains, Headaches, and a generally run-down, exhausted body."

It is the opinion that the prescription Cystex cures such conditions. It aids in flushing poisons from the urinary tract, and in freeing the blood of re-entrants.

Dr. W. B. George states that Cystex deserves the designation of "all doctors."

If you suffer from Kidney and Bladder trouble, delay endangers your life, and you should not lose a single minute in starting to take the doctor's special Kidney prescription called Cystex (pronounced Cystex) which will help your kidneys in a few hours. It starts work in 15 minutes. Gently heals, soothes, and cleanses your kidneys. Brings new health, youth, and vitality in 48 hours. It helps thousands of sufferers and must end your troubles and make you feel like new in 8 days, or money back on return of empty package. Get Cystex from your druggist to-day. Be well and strong next week. (Advt.)

Terrible 40-Year Chronic RHEUMATISM Now Checked

Clinton, Ont., resident doesn't know how she could live without T-R-C's. Everyone tortured by Rheumatic Pain should read this letter from Mrs. Annie Nickle. "For nearly 40 years I have suffered terrible pain from Chronic Rheumatism. At times the pain has been almost more than I could bear. Often it seems to be in every joint at once: a hard, grinding, steady pain that gives no rest. Sometimes, too, the pain will be sharp and stabbing."

"Someone got me to try T-R-C's (Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules). I found in them the first satisfactory relief I had ever known. The relief I have had has been remarkable and there have been no harmful effects from using them. I take one capsule 3 times a day to keep my rheumatism checked. I don't see how I could live without T-R-C's."

Deep-rooted, stubborn cases of Rheumatism require patient and correct use of T-R-C's for a reasonable length of time; but you are assured of relief if you persevere with T-R-C's. Repeatedly they have given safe, speedy relief from Acute Rheumatic suffering; also from Sciatica, (stabbing pain in hip and thigh), Painful Neuritis, Neuralgia (including Tic Douloureux), and other nerve troubles. No harmful or habit-forming drugs.

T-R-C's do this—enter the blood stream and help your body throw off the misery-causing poisons which have accumulated in your blood. When these go, health and happiness return. T-R-C's are 50¢ and 4¢ everywhere.

QUADRA SCOUTS PLAN JAMBOREE

The jamboree of next Friday night, at the Quadra Street School, under the auspices of the Boy Scouts' Association, Quadra Troop and Pack, promises to prove a big success.

The Shrine band is one of the top-liners of the programme announced. Several groups of musical selections of a suitable character are being prepared by the band, and the indications are that the entertainment throughout will be of an exceptionally high standard.

Frank Merryfield promises some new and mysterious problems. "Yorkie," the ventriloquist, has an especially fine run-making turn; and Bob Warmington will give a number of comedy songs. A quartette from St. Matthew's choir will give a number, and songs will be contributed by A. Jackson and W. Holt. Scotch dances by Miss Gwen Dewar and Miss A. Grant; a tap dance by Ray Hunt; and a special performance by the North Quadra boys under the leadership of Scoutmaster Jack Miller, will go to make up an enjoyable evening.

The funds raised will be devoted wholly to the financing of the North Quadra Troop and Pack, and a large attendance seems assured.

The committee and management consists of Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. Froeh, Mr. and Mrs. Fox, Fred J. Crowhurst, Scoutmaster Miller, Mrs. Entwistle, Mr. and Mrs. Willmore, Mr. Kitching and Robert Dunn.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETIES

GRACE LUTHER LEAGUE

The regular monthly meeting of the Grace Luther League was held at the home of Miss Christine Schmalz recently. The president, Fred Loffler, was in the chair. The business was attended to and plans for a Hal-loween Party discussed. Games and contests were played. Prizes were won by Miss Margaret Gower, Miss Eleanor Rutland, Miss Lillian Nelson and Rev. Jansen. Refreshments were then served by Mrs. Schmalz. The meeting was well attended and a good time was enjoyed by all.

SCOUT NEWS

1ST CATHEDRAL TROOP

The 1st Cathedral Troop meeting was held last night. Duty Patrol Leader H. Taylor opened the meeting, after which the following badges were presented: Knotters, D. Ruffell, G. Simmons, A. Batey, and J. Beckering; swimmers, D. Simmons, J. Lawrie and J. Batey; musicians, L. Proud; bee-keepers, John Walter Ashdown-Green. The first gold all-round cord in the troop was presented to P. L. A. Batey for having his King's Scout and eighteen badges. He also received his metalwork, rescuer and blacksmith's badges. A detailed inspection was then carried out by Scoutmaster R. White, many points being gained and lost. Twenty minutes of instruction in badge work was given and the rest of the meeting devoted entirely to games. There was no court of honor after the meeting owing to the absence of several members.

The annual meeting and election of officers of Ward Five Liberal Association, will be held at Liberal Headquarters, Broughton and Government Streets, on Wednesday evening next at 8 o'clock. All members of Ward Five are requested to be present.

Daughters of St. George—Princess Patricia Lodge 238 held their regular business meeting on Friday evening in the K. of C. Hall, the worthy president, Mrs. M. Wright, presiding. Four new members were initiated into the order and two new applications for membership were received. Report of a successful card party was given by Mrs. Pocock, and the worthy president reported on the session held in Portland. A silver tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Spavin, 534 John Street, on Wednesday next at 8 p.m. All officers and members of the guard team are asked to be present as a practice for the public installation will be held after the session.

TELLS STATUS OF MIDWIVES

Dame Janet Campbell Addresses Graduate Nurses' Luncheon

The status of midwives in Great Britain as compared with Canada, was among the interesting matters discussed by Dame Janet Campbell at the informal round-table talk held on Saturday at the luncheon arranged in her honor by the Graduate Nurses' Association executive. Miss E. J. Herbert presided.

PROFESSIONAL BASIS

In answer to a question, Dame Janet stated that midwives in England were on a professional basis, being trained workers who had to go through exacting courses in midwifery, working under very close supervision. A very large proportion of the poorer women in the country, particularly, were attended by these midwives, and the importance of having nothing but very highly qualified women doing this work was recognized by the health authorities. Nurses wishing to add midwifery to their qualifications had to take an additional six months' course. Very few doctors now would employ a nurse on a confinement case unless she was a qualified midwife. In contrast to the condition prevalent in Canada, where women, whenever possible, went to hospital for confinement, a comparatively small number of women in England went into hospital, the speaker noted.

But, since the war, there had been a growing desire on the part of the better classes of women to go into hospital for confinement. The ministry, through the local authorities, had made a point of asking these authorities to provide maternity hospitals or nursing homes for those whose homes were unfitted for confinement.

MATERNITY INSURANCE

Dame Janet, in reply to a question, stated that maternity insurance was available to the unmarried as well as to the married mother, but was not paid until the baby was born. Maternity services were available without fee if necessary. While the public health authorities bear this burden, the supplementary assistance given by voluntary private organizations was appreciated for what it did in providing extra that the public authorities were perhaps unable to furnish.

THOSE PRESENT

Among those present were: Miss E. Dyke, R.N., of Ottawa, Dame Janet's secretary; Mrs. W. P. D. Pemberton and Mrs. Norman Yarrow, president and secretary, respectively, of the Victorian Order of Nurses; Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, president of the Women's Canadian Club; Jennie Sheppard, Jubilee Hospital; Miss E. Grubb, Social Service and Family Welfare Association; secretary: Miss Blackley—Y.W.C.A. secretary: Miss St. King, Department of Mothers' Pension; Miss M. Clay, city librarian; Miss Thornley, supervisor; and Miss Benzie of the V.O.N. staff; Miss W. Cook, nursing education; Jubilee staff; Miss A. Williams, president of the Overseas Nurses' Club; Miss D. Dodd, Miss E. Franks, registrar, Victoria Graduate Nurses' Association, and Miss Smith of the Sanitch V.O.N. The table was attractively decorated with yellow chrysanthemums.

POPULAR GIRL WED SATURDAY

Miss Victoria Gardiner Becomes Bride of Kenneth F. Moffatt of Vernon

The marriage was solemnized on Saturday evening by Rev. Canon F. A. Chadwick of Pauline Victoria, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Gardiner, 1016 Fakington Street, and Mr. Kenneth Fraser Moffatt, only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Moffatt, of Vernon. Relatives and intimate friends only were guests at the ceremony, which was performed in a pretty setting of autumn flowers and foliage.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white tulle and lace gown, with a long, flowing train, and a long, flowing veil. She carried a large bouquet of white roses and lilies. The groom wore a tuxedo and a white shirt with a bow tie. The ceremony was performed in a pretty setting of autumn flowers and foliage.

The groom wore a tuxedo and a white shirt with a bow tie. The ceremony was performed in a pretty setting of autumn flowers and foliage.

After a motoring trip in the south Mr. and Mrs. Moffatt will make their home in Vernon. The bride left on her travels wearing a Patou model high-necked costume of lovebird green, cleverly laced down one side with satin in matching tones, and a velvet hat of a deeper shade, and a Hudson seal swag coat finished with an Ascot tie.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gardner, Seattle, Miss Elyne Forde, Vancouver, and Mrs. George Alder, Los Angeles.

MODELS PARADE IN PROTEST AGAINST SOCIETY RIVALS

Manhattan's "Battle of the Models" over the invasion of the field by society beauties has at last come into the open. The girls who parade clothes before the public to earn a living launched their picketing campaign when society women strided as models without pay at a charity fashion show conducted by one of the smart restaurants in East Fifty-third Street. Finally police were called to disperse them. The trade beauties shown above as they paraded to keep patrons from viewing what they called an "amateurish exhibition." Carrying the white purse is Gertrude Mayer, leader of the professional models.

PERSONAL

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. J. W. Pordham Johnson entertained at a small dinner party at Government House on Saturday evening in honor of Dame Janet Campbell, D.B.E., who left on yesterday afternoon's boat for the mainland after being their guest for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gardiner of Seattle, who came over to Victoria to attend the Moffatt-Gardiner wedding that took place on Saturday evening, returned yesterday afternoon to their home in Washington.

Miss Mary Hamilton Watts, only daughter of the late Ernest Dugan Watts and Mrs. Hamilton Watts of Vernon, B.C., will be married in Wuchan, China, in December, to Thomas Paul Maslin of Kuling, China, elder son of Rev. T. P. and Mrs. Maslin. The wedding was announced in Vernon Saturday.

Mrs. Rough of Vancouver, who came over to Victoria to attend the wedding of her son, Mr. Frederick Rough, and Miss Gladys Elliott, that took place on Saturday evening, is remaining in Victoria this week as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Elliott, Government Street. Miss Norah Rough, who also came over, returned to her home on the mainland yesterday afternoon, while Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Love, who were guests at the wedding, returned this afternoon to their home on the mainland.

A Halloween party was held on Friday evening at the home of Miss Carolyn Harper of Games and dancing were enjoyed until midnight, when a buffet supper was served. Miss Jean Bernhart and Miss Doreen Crowe were fortunate in winning the prizes for the evening. Those present were: Misses Joan Boulter, Doreen Crowe, Elaine Humphries, Doris Minty, Jean Bernhart, Sybil Page, Phyllis Tomes, Bernice Roberts and Iris Vallance, Messrs. Eddie Parry, Victor Green, Chris Mann, Ralph Peterson, Joe Travis, Gerry Spink, Everett Ward, Jack and Bob Harper.

A most enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Culliton, Goldsmith Street, on Friday evening, the occasion being a Halloween party given by Miss Mae Chilton. The evening was spent in playing games and dancing. A buffet supper was served at midnight, the table being decorated with chrysanthemums. Those invited were: The Misses Edna Holdridge, Buntly Clark, Bernice Wilkinson, Rita MacKay, Thelma Ellis and Messrs. Jack Norrworthy, Sid Barnes, Barney Barnes, Don Morton, Brent Murdoch, Lloyd Harding and John Chilton.

Mrs. G. Campbell Sanson held her post-nuptial reception on Saturday afternoon at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. George Sanson, Linden Avenue, between sixty and seventy guests calling during the afternoon. The bride, who was formerly Miss Anne Smith of Calgary, received the guests in her wedding gown of Venetian blue lace. Autumn flowers were used in the decoration of the reception rooms and on the tea table, which was illuminated with tall pink tapers and centred with the wedding cake. Mrs. Angus Campbell, Mrs. D. E. Campbell, Mrs. John Cochran and Mrs. W. L. Clark presided in turn at the table, and were assisted in serving the guests by Miss Margaret Sanson, Mrs. G. D. Tyson, Mrs. Alex. Strath and Miss Jean Campbell.

Mrs. David Mowat, the former Grace Elliott, will hold her post-nuptial reception on Wednesday afternoon, November 14, at her home, 3005 Quadra Street.

Miss Agnes McInnes entertained at her home on Friday afternoon in honor of Miss Mary Hallas, whose marriage to Mr. J. Stobart will take place on November 10. The invited guests were: Mrs. J. McInnes, Mrs. A. B. Thompson, Mrs. B. Torrance, Mrs. C. Smith, Misses M. Hallas, E. Rose, Y. Stewart, M. McDiarmid, A. McInnes and J. Moore.

The "Happy Hearts" bridge club held an enjoyable card game at the home of Miss Edna Edna and Ruth Coates, 160 Joseph Street, in honor of Miss Eileen McCaghey, who celebrated her birthday on Tuesday. A birthday gift from the club was presented by Miss Doreen Bennett, president. After an enjoyable game of bridge, the prizes being won by Misses Edna Coates, Elsie Barnes and Helen Creed, dainty refreshments were served. The rooms were prettily decorated in Halloween colors, and the table centred with a large pumpkin. Those present were: Misses Ina Erb, Edna Coates, Elsie Barnes, Helen Creed, Helen Creed, Doris and Eileen McCaghey, Elsie Barnes, Doris Bennett, Ruth and Edna Coates and Mrs. Raymond Wakeham. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Bessie Williamson.

The masquerade dance held by the Poul Bay Junior Community Association Friday proved to be a wonderful success. A much larger crowd than was expected turned out for the event and many beautiful as well as comical costumes were worn, which, with the aid of the pally decorated hall, helped to make a very colorful scene. To enable the judges to determine the prize-winners a grand march was held. The judges were Miss Vera Perry and Miss Eleanor McKennie for the ladies; the men's judges were Mr. Lionel Dixon and Mr. Henry Whitford. The winners were: Ladies' first prize, Miss Mimi Rudebeck; second prize, Miss Zoe Milstead, and third prize, Miss Maryann. The men's prizes were: First, Mr. Dick Wakeham, and second, Charlie Bent. The judges had difficulty in choosing between the two best costumes, which were: Shanks as to which was the more comically dressed, so the audience was asked to vote by applause. Mr. Shanks receiving most applause took the prize.

The number of guests dancing at the Empress Hotel on Saturday night was surprisingly large in view of the police ball the night before. Dancing to music by Billy Tickle's orchestra continued from 9 to midnight. Tables were reserved by A. R. Putnam with ten, Mr. W. Reade with eight, Mr. A. L. Taylor with ten, R. H. Edgell with six, Mr. Frank Wilson with four, and Mr. F. Crocker with four. Those not invited among the dancers included: Mrs. Guy Barclay, Mrs. E. M. Cupple, Mrs. H. A. R. Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. B. TETRAZZINI SUES HUSBAND

Prima Donna to Press Criminal Charge Against Young Spouse

Associated Press
Rome, Nov. 5.—Madame Luisa Tetrazzini, world-famous soprano, made known last night that she would press for criminal punishment of the young husband who for many months had been trying to place her financial affairs in the hands of a trustee. She has instructed her counsel to proceed in penal court to-morrow with charges of attempted extortion against Pietro Vernati, twenty-five years her junior, to whom she was married in 1926. Attorneys for the diva claimed to have evidence that Vernati offered to withdraw his action for appointment of a trustee if the singer would pay him 100,000 lire (about $2,700). The criminal action is a counter-stroke against Vernati, who in 1926 was brought in 1932 on the grounds that the now sixty-three-year-old operatic star was squandering her fortune, said to have amounted once to $5,000,000. Final decision in that case is still pending.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETIES

CATHEDRAL A.Y.P.A.
The members of the Colwood-Langford A.Y.P.A. were the guests of the Christ Church Cathedral A.Y.P.A. at a Halloween social held on Wednesday evening at the Memorial Hall. The social was in the form of a "kiddie" party, and many clever and amusing costumes were worn. A programme of Halloween games was enjoyed, fol-loved by dancing in the gymnasium. Refreshments were served in the Guild Room, which had been appropriately decorated for the occasion. PRESBYTERIAN Y.P.A. EXECUTIVE

The regular meeting of the executive of the Presbyterian Young People's Association was held on Friday in St. Andrew's Church. Representatives were present from Knox, George, Chinese, St. Paul's and St. Andrew's societies, and the president, Don McMillan, was in the chair. The usual business was dealt with. It was decided that on November 16 a social be held in St. Andrew's lecture room for all Presbyterian young people. Miss Reta Rodger, convener of the social committee, will be in charge of the arrangements and a good time is assured to all. The first debate for this season was held on October 30 at Gorge Church. Resolved: "That public utilities should be state owned" was the subject. Miss Rodger and Mr. Hunter from St. Paul's upheld the affirmative, while Miss P. Holmes and R. Trowdale from Gorge took the negative. Messrs. Hill and Dunn were the judges and gave the decision to the affirmative.

The next debate will take place on November 30 at Knox Church, with Knox and Gorge young people taking part. The subject will be, resolved: "That Vancouver Island should be a Crown colony."

ROUGH-ELLIOTT

Autumn weddings are becoming as popular as the spring functions, and among the several ceremonies celebrated on Saturday evening, one of the prettiest was that at the Metropolitan United Church, which united in marriage Gladys, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Elliott, 2519 Government Street, and Mr. Frederick H. Rough, eldest son of Mrs. Rough and the late Mr. S. Rough, Vancouver.

The church was effectively arranged with chrysanthemums and greenery, and Rev. E. P. Church conducted the service, and Mr. Edward Parsons presided at the organ and played the wedding marches, and also accompanied Mr. Frank Tupper, who sang "O Father, All Creating" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was a charming picture in her wedding gown of white crepe and a veil of Chantilly lace, the train being dotted with sprigs of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of pale pink roses and carnations. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Winnifred Elliott in a pretty frock of fondant pink silk crape trimmed with silver, and a silver turban trimmed with pink gardenias. She carried a sheaf of pale pink chrysanthemums. The best man was Mr. Austin Curtis, and the ushers were Mr. Sydney Phillips and Mr. George Dyke Jr.

At the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, for which the rooms were decorated in pink and white flowers, Mrs. Elliott received in a gown of vintage red flat crepe with a lace yoke and a lace-trimmed jacket, and a matching hat adorned with a feather mount, and Mrs. Rough Sr. wore a gown of black and gold and a black hat. Their corsage bouquets were of carnations. The supper table was covered with a cut-work cloth and centered with the four-tier wedding cake, the decorations including pale pink carnations and tapers to match in silver holders.

Mr. and Mrs. Rough left at midnight for Vancouver, where they will make their home. The bride went away in an ensemble of navy blue and red, with red accessories. Guests at the wedding included Mrs. Rough and Miss Norah Rough, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Love, Mrs. M. Bulcher, and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Dods, all of Vancouver. Among the gifts were a silver tray with a matching sugar bowl and cream jug from the bride's former associates on the office staff of the New Method Laundries Limited, and an electric coffee urn from the employees at the laundry.

MUNDIE-MITCHELL

The marriage of Isabelle Mitchell, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McMillan, 1489 Myrtle Avenue, and Mr. James William Mundie, B.C.N., second son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Mundie, Salicosta, Bask., was solemnized Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in St. Alban's Church, Rev. F. W. Weaver officiating. Chrysanthemums in pink, cream and white were used in the decorations, and the guests were marked with tulle. As the bride entered the hall on the arm of her father, who gave her away, Mrs. D. Swan played the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin." The wedding gown was of white organdie, with which the bride wore a small white hat and nose veil, and white lace mittens, and carried a sheaf of white chrysanthemums and maiden-hair fern. Her cousin, Miss Ina McMillan, was bridesmaid, wearing a frock of blue organdie and a white hat, and carried a sheaf of cream chrysanthemums, and the bride's little sister, Shirley, was flower girl, in a dainty frock of pink silk, and carried a basket of pink chrysanthemums. The groom and his attendants were all in naval uniform. The best man was Mr. Lance Butcher, and acting as ushers were Mr. Thomas Standing and Mr. Victor Holman. A reception was held later in the New Thought Hall, where pink chrysanthemums and greenery were used in the general decorations, the supper table being centred with the three-tier cake.

The bride was "piped" into the hall by her brother, and Mr. and Mrs. McMillan received the guests, the latter wearing a smart gown of black silk and hat en suite, and a corsage bouquet of rosebuds. After a honeymoon on the mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Mundie will make their home in Victoria, the bridegroom being stationed at the Naval Barracks at Esquimalt. The bride left in a becoming brown costume, with accessories to match.

BULLEN-SPARK

Rev. James Hood officiated at the wedding held Thursday evening at the home of the bride's father, 215 Superior Street, between Elizabeth Jean, eldest daughter of Mr. John Spark, and of the late Mrs. Spark, and Mr. Robert W. Bullen, youngest son of Mrs. F. Bullen, Victoria, and of Mr. Bullen, Nanaimo. The house was decorated with flowers and the ceremony was performed beneath an arch and wedding bell of white.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a form-fitting frock of midnight blue French transparent velvet, finished with cape sleeves lined with white satin. She wore slippers to match, and her bouquet was of bridal roses and white carnations. Miss Louise Fry, the bridesmaid, was in red silk georgette, made with a cowl neckline, and sleeves inset with eren lace. She carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations and mauve chrysanthemums. Mr. Albert Bailey was best man.

Supper was served from a table arranged with white streamers and chrysanthemums, and centred with the two-tiered cake. The guests were welcomed by Mr. Spark, assisted by the groom's mother. In a gown of beige silk crepe and by the bride's aunt, Mrs. J. H. Harvey, in a black transparent velvet robe. Mr. and Mrs. Bullen, left at midnight for Vancouver and Seattle, where the honeymoon will be spent, the bride traveling in a black and white wool sports dress with matching accessories, and on their return will make their home at 1152 Yates Street. They received many beautiful gifts.

Your Baby and Mine

MRS. ELDRED TELLS HOW TO GIVE CHILDREN'S PARTIES

Holiday seasons offer splendid opportunities for entertaining the small members of the family. And where is the mother who does not enjoy seeing her youngsters' eyes pop when she says portentously, "I believe I will have a party for you."

Parties to the runabout mean something particularly festive to eat, usually ice cream. But before the age of two or three nothing about a party has any meaning for the child. The wise mother will subdue her social inclinations until her child is old enough to have some personal enthusiasm for the ceremony of a party.

TWO-YEAR-OLDS CAN PLAY

The two-year-old is able to participate in party games. We have a leaflet called "Party Games for Small Children," which will help the mother to keep these tots entertained. A self-addressed, stamped envelope is all that is needed. Send it, asking for the leaflet, to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

When children are under four years of age the hours for parties had best be immediately after their usual nap, say from 2.30 to 4.30 p.m. At 2.30 serve the "party," and let it be plain ice cream and plain cookies cut in fancy shapes, or cocoa and small bread and butter sandwiches with jelly, or peanut butter.

BREAK IT UP EARLY

Each small guest may be given a package of hard candies to carry home, but all rich food is an insult to the guest's digestion and should be eschewed. The mother will thank you, if not the child. Let these small ones depart early, before the time when all the children, and most of the mothers, are ready to scream from fatigue.

For children past the nap age the party may be a simple luncheon with the departure scheduled for 4.30 p.m., or it may begin at 5 and a light supper be served at 5.30 p.m. At any rate, make it plain exactly when the guests are to depart, enough is apt to be too much when excitement and unusual food take their toll. Keep the party food simple, the hours short and treat each small guest alike and the party can be nothing less than 100 per cent successful.

APPEAL DRAWS WIDE RESPONSE

That the spirit of friendly help is not dead among the people of Victoria to-day is told by Mrs. A. E. Bowden, who on Saturday related the wonderful response received to an appeal published in the correspondence column of Wednesday's Victoria Times.

Mrs. Bowden's letter asked for a stove for a couple who were greatly in need of it. Before 7 o'clock on the evening that the appeal appeared in the paper Mrs. Bowden had had a reply from Oak Bay, and by noon the next day the stove was installed in the needy couple's home. An evening they had their first real meal for twenty days.

In addition to this gift, Mrs. Bowden received several other offers of stoves on behalf of a couple and innumerable telephone calls from people who were willing to give cash for the purpose of providing the needed articles.

The Clue of The Forgotten Murder

By CARLETON KENDRAKE
Copyright, 1934, NEA Service Inc.

The man in ivory hesitated for a moment, then took four swift steps, sat down abruptly in a chair, said nervously, "You've let the cat out of the bag now. Why did you do it?"

Griff's tone was not unkindly. "Decker," he said, "you told me and you told the police that you couldn't be certain of the identity of the man who drove that grey Cadillac car."

"That's right," Decker said, "I couldn't."

"Then," Griff said, "your testimony wouldn't have helped the police in the least."

"That's what I told them," Decker said. "I explained that to the police."

"And," Griff continued, "since your testimony wouldn't have hurt anyone, no one would have you to keep from giving that testimony."

Decker moistened his lips with his tongue, swallowed and said nothing.

"Therefore," Bleeker said, "you must know something that you're keeping back."

Decker stared at Dan Bleeker, then turned to Griff.

"Dan," he said, "I hired you to protect me. What's the idea of putting me on the grill in front of a witness?"

"Because I think you're getting off on the wrong foot," Griff said slowly. He took a picture from his inside coat pocket, the photograph of a man's face—a man with wide cheek bones, sunken eyes, a rather high forehead and a slightly crooked nose.

"Look at it," he said.

Decker took the photograph and studied it.

"Ever see him before?" asked Griff.

"No, who is he?"

"That," said Griff, "is the latest authentic photograph of Philip C. Lampson, sometimes known as 'Cincinnati Red.'"

Decker stared at the picture with wide open eyes. "You're trying to trap me in some way," he said.

Griff took a folded newspaper clipping from his pocket. "Look at it for yourself," he said. "The newspaper clipping shows Lampson's photograph. You can compare the two."

Decker looked from one to the other. Slowly a look of relief came over his face.

"That wasn't the man," he said, "who was driving the grey Cadillac car."

"Griff nodded. "I thought so," he said. "Now, let's have the truth, Decker."

"The man tried to keep me from seeing his face," Decker said, "but a gust of wind blew back his hat and there was enough light for me to see him plainly. I don't know if I saw him again. I don't know as I could describe him. He's sort of big-framed. I can't tell it exactly, but it isn't that man. The eyes weren't so white and he didn't have those big cheek bones."

Griff nodded to Bleeker.

"Get your newspaper on the telephone," he said. "Your reporters can discover Decker. I don't care where they discover him, just so it isn't here. Shown a photograph of Lampson, Decker states positively that Lampson was not the driver of the car."

"And then you're going to let me out where the Lampson gang can get me?" Decker asked.

"Be your age," Griff retorted sharply. "Lampson would put a bodyguard around you to see that nothing happened to you. You're his best insurance."

"But I thought sure it was Lampson," Decker said.

"That's what the police thought," Griff replied. "Why didn't you tell me the truth?"

"I don't know. I was afraid, I guess."

Bleeker picked up the phone, called The Blade. While he was talking Sidney Griff opened the drawer of his desk and took out an automatic. "Carry a gun?" he asked casually of Bleeker.

Bleeker slipped the receiver back on its hook.

"No," he said, eyeing the automatic with frowning distaste, "and I don't want to. I don't believe in carrying weapons."

"Put this in your pocket," Griff said.

Bleeker eyed the revolver distastefully. "What's the idea?" he demanded.

"Put it in your pocket," Griff repeated.

"But why?"

"We're going to call on Mr. Kenneth Boone. The party may get rough."

"Look here," Bleeker protested. "Aren't you going rather far in this thing without notifying the police?"

"We're going a lot farther," Griff told him. "This is one of the cases that the police would fall down on."

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1934

Again the stars appear to smile upon the planet Mars. This is a day fortunate for many who will find happy issues from some period of ill luck.

The planetary government is favorable for many who have enjoyed public approval and previous success for those who have occupied positions in the sun.

In the horoscope are signs indicating contradictions in many lines of political opinion and surprises in election results.

While there may be opposition to conditions in the economic and financial world, the power of the people will be expressed in adherence to well-established principles, except in a few places in the United States.

The President is to receive assurance of confidence, but there will be widespread changes in policies affecting the welfare of those who contribute to the support of government. Relief for taxpayers will be provided in the very near future.

This is a day for enterprise in business. The stock and commerce are subject to stimulating influences making for expansion. Holiday shopping which will begin early today is to be more generous than in recent years. Large returns through small profits are indicated.

This is a lucky day for those who seek contracts in any sort of professional work. Engineers and contractors as well as actors and artists should profit.

Persons whose birthday it is have the augury of a year of unexpected and surprising experiences. Sentimental considerations may interfere with business plans.

Children born on this day probably will be imaginative and temperamental. Subjects of this sign may unite artistic and practical talents.

Nelson W. Aldrich, United States Senator, was born on this day, 1841. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include: Richard Jeffries, English writer, 1848, and Ellen Olney Kirk, author, 1842.

United Church To Broadcast Series

Commencing to-morrow evening at 8:45 o'clock, and running for seven consecutive Tuesdays, something original in the way of religious broadcasting over the United Church station CKPC, Vancouver.

As forty-two denominations of North America are co-operating in an emphasis on "Christ in the Life of the Home," the International Council of Religious Education has prepared a series of seven dramatic broadcasts on the general theme of religious nurture within the family. The committee on religious education of the Vancouver Presbytery of the United Church of Canada has arranged for these to be put on in Vancouver under the direction of Mrs. Bert Stockdale, assisted by the Dunbar Heights Junior Young People.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

GRINDER TENDERIZES CHEAP

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

Seems sometimes as if the so-called cheap cuts of meat require much fuel to cook that they are no real saving. But chopped meat is an exception for it's as quick to do as the more expensive steaks and chops.

Beef, veal, lamb and pork may all be run through the grinder and used in appetizing ways.

Chopped veal, for instance, is good made into small cakes, with a strip of bacon around each. These patties may either be broiled over the fire or baked in a hot oven for from thirty to forty-five minutes. Lamb, beef, veal, lamb and pork may all be braised, baked or broiled. Broiling takes less time than the other two methods.

Corned and cracker crumbs combined with chopped meat make nourishing loaves. And rice or macaroni may be used with chopped meat alone.

Tamale pie is an adaptation of the popular "hot tamale" of the southwest. Beef, lamb or pork can be used in the filling. The filling is found in the real tamale. Turnips go well with the pie and with an apple and celery combination, for example, a different country you have a dinner that is different.

TAMALE PIE

One pound lean meat, 2½ cups meat stock, 1½ cups tomato puree, 1 onion, ¾ teaspoon chili powder, 1 cup canned pineapples, 1 cup cornmeal, 2 teaspoons salt.

Put one tablespoon fat trimmed from meat in a frying pan and fry out fat. Cut meat in two-inch squares and brown half of it in the fat. Put browned meat and uncooked meat in a kettle and add two and one-half cups boiling water. Simmer half an hour, remove meat from stock and put through food chopper.

Add enough boiling water to stock to make 2½ cups. Put meat, stock, tomato puree, chopped onion and onion in a large kettle and bring to the boiling point. Stir in cornmeal which has been stirred to a smooth paste with cold water. Cook, stirring constantly for twenty minutes. Add pineapples cut in shreds. Turn into a well buttered baking dish, cover with buttered paper and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Serve from baking dish.

SNOW PUDDING

One tablespoon granulated gelatine, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup granulated sugar, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, whites 3 eggs.

Soak gelatine in cold water for five minutes. Add boiling water and sugar and stir until gelatine is dissolved.

Two "DEB" MODELS

Losses of the C.P.R. are paid by the owners of the stock, most of whom reside abroad (the great majority in Great Britain) and cannot therefore be any burden on Canadian taxpayers.

Let us forget wild statements about monopolies, amalgamation and the like, and let us take over the management of both systems to common-sense business railway men, entirely divorced from politics, and of course under a competent board of railway commissioners. I understand the National Railways is still going behind at the rate of about $1,000,000 a week.

Think of it! If a unification plan can save Canada from fifty to seventy-five millions a year surely no government should bar the way, because of any senseless law existing against Mr. Beatty's idea of unification. You can judge by above what politicians do with the management of railways, and you also see what the C.P.R. privately owned line has accomplished. Surely no one could prefer government or political management. Why, therefore, is there such an outcry by some politicians against unification?

I cannot quite make up my mind

Does Life Insurance Pay the man who pays the premiums?

YES! Not only in protection for his dependents, but in cold dollars and cents as well. In 1933 The Manufacturers Life paid $19,000,000 to beneficiaries and policyholders. Of this, $14,500,000—or 76%—went to living policyholders.

WELFARE DRIVE

To the Editor:—It is quite obvious from letters and other things printed in your valuable paper, that the good citizens connected with the welfare drive are at their wits' end to know how to complete their good work.

One wonders why that should be. We have been educated by certain public men to believe that there are about forty millionaires in Victoria. We understand that government and city officials, on the whole, have very good salaries for these times, and yet some of them are asking for more.

The general appearance of the city is not depression but prosperity. Our departmental store windows are (as in 1929) dressed up to the knocker, which shows that their expectations to deliver the goods are realized. Luxurious cars, and not a few with fur-covered damped and four-legged poodles, are rolling along

LAY SUNDAY NOVEMBER 25

Business Men of Churches Will Have Charge of Services on Special Date

Sunday, November 25, has been set aside by the lay association, with the approval of the B.C. Conference of the United Church of Canada, for general observation as Lay Sunday.

Last season the first Dominion-wide effort was made by the Conference Lay Association to observe a special Sunday on which the lay members of the churches should take a prominent part in the services. It was felt that in many churches the men were content to worry solely about the financial problems of church work, leaving the social and spiritual side of its activities to their wives and their minister. Lay Sunday was introduced as the means of throwing out a challenge to the rank and file of the church, particularly the laymen.

Last year the day was observed in many parts of the Dominion. In British Columbia laymen took an active part in the special services in Vancouver, Victoria, and in the lower Fraser Valley, while observation was less general throughout the rest of the province. This year a drive is being made to have this day observed in every United Church in British Columbia. The last Sunday in November was set aside as this special day, but in churches where local arrangements make this day impossible, congregations are requested to make their own arrangements for the nearest possible date. The general theme suggested is "World Conditions and Their Challenge to Laymen in the Church" or in other words the place of the church layman in local, national, the community and in government.

Each of the British Columbia Presbyteries has been placed in charge of a vice-president, who is anxious to assist in securing speakers for churches where it is impossible to get a local member to undertake the work. General arrangements for the day are in the hands of W. A. Gleason, 3486 West 16th Avenue, Vancouver, and Fred H. Fullerton, 3994 West 35th Avenue, Vancouver, president and secretary of the Provincial Lay Association.

Annual Book Week Throws Spotlight on Place Occupied by Nation's Authors in Literature of World; Short-story Contest Sponsored by Local Group

This is Canadian Book Week. From now until next Saturday book dealers, authors' groups and similar organizations are staging a special campaign to interest readers in Canadian fiction, Canadian poetry and Canadian literary works of all kinds.

The place Canadian works hold in the literature of the world is not so widely known as it should be in the belief of the sponsors of Book Week. From the pens of Canadian subjects have come some of the finest of modern works, but because of a peculiar attitude on the part of the public there has been a general neglect of the work.

Howard Angus Kennedy, national secretary of the Canadian Authors' Association, summed this feeling up as follows:

"Besides books on definitely Canadian subjects, which are not likely to be authoritative when written by competent Canadians, a large and ever-growing number of Canadian books rank high among works of the same class in the literature of the world. Yet even they have to overcome a prejudice, surviving from pioneer days, when it was natural enough, against any book not sent us by some other country. The association therefore takes fitting opportunities, in Book Week for example, to make the real position of Canadian literature better known."

Mr. Kennedy, in the Authors' Bulletin, pointed out Canadian writers had the right to be judged fairly under the high standards the authors acknowledged.

"When we take the responsibility of writing we launch on a sea that has no geographical boundaries. The sea of all English literature if English is our tongue, or of all French literature if we write and speak in French," he said.

"By the law of that open sea we sink or swim. By no laws relaxed in our favor, by no standards lowered for our benefit, does Canadian literature claim to be judged. For no poor work, merely on account of its birthplace, may we claim the honor due to excellence."

Canadian Book Week

By Inviting You to Visit their BOOK DEPARTMENT

During the Coming Week to Examine the Special Display of Books

BY CANADIAN AUTHORS

The object of Canadian Book Week is to interest Canadian readers in the literary efforts of their own countrymen or in literature relating to the Dominion—which in resources for colorful romance and adventure, as well as historical works, stands out prominently in the view of all writers seeking new inspiration.

All interested in Canadian literature and Canadian authors will be very welcome to examine the books we have on display.

Shawnigan Rugger

In One-sided Win

Shawnigan Lake School rugger opened their season with a 50-0 victory over Brentwood College on Saturday afternoon on the former's grounds. Shawnigan was the heavier team. Tries were scored at regular intervals during the first half, usually the result of good passing movements. Harris ran particularly strongly, setting the dummy on several occasions, while Whittle played a good game at scrum itself. At half time the score was 31 to 0. In the second half Brentwood, mainly owing to the efforts of the forwards, put up a considerably stronger resistance and managed to have almost as much of the game as the school. Their marking and tackling was also better. In spite of this Shawnigan scored five more tries. Players who scored for Shawnigan were: Rogers 3, Reed, Harris, Dawson and Campbell 2. Tryon 1. Dawson's place kicking was good, as he converted six tries. Motherwell also converted one.

MAINLAND RUGBY

Vancouver, Nov. 5.—Occasional retained their place at the top of the first division of the Vancouver Rugby Union by defeating Ex-Magee 3 to 0 Saturday. Ex-Britannia won over Rowing Club, 7 to 5, while Varsity and North Shore All-Blacks played a no-score tie.

North Shore Wins Match With Saints

Vancouver, Nov. 5.—North Shore United won Saturday's Inter-city Soccer League game from St. Saviours, 2 to 1. St. Saviours played the best soccer through most of the game, but gave the United the extra goal in the first period, when Lawrie shot into his own net.

Alaska-Buenos Aires Highway In Few Years

Auto Club of Southern California Says 83 Per Cent Already Usable in Dry Weather; Links Would Be Built in British Columbia

Associated Press

Los Angeles, Nov. 5.—An international highway extending from Fairbanks, Alaska, just under the Arctic Circle, to Buenos Aires, Argentina, looms as a probability within the next few years according to the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Already, a survey reveals 83 per cent, or nearly 11,000 miles of the proposed route is traversable by motorists in dry weather. Of this 11,000 miles, nearly 50 per cent has been graded or has paved surface. When, through the co-operation of the fourteen nations the international highway will traverse, the immense undertaking will have been completed, motorists will be able to drive more than 15,000 miles over good, all-weather roads.

LINKS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Starting at Fairbanks, the highway will cross the eastern part of Alaska, entering Canada near Dawson. Thence it will proceed southward through Whitehorse to Hazelton, B.C., from which point an excellent highway already leads to Vancouver. Entering the United States, the route leads through Seattle and Portland to San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego. It enters Mexico at Nogales, Arizona, and leads southward to Guaymas, Matamoros, Gadsden and Mexico City.

From Mexico City the motorist now may drive to Puebla, and an expedition of auto club engineers and officials recently continued on to Oaxaca, then penetrated to Guatemala, the principal city of the Central American republic of the same name. The expedition was halted a few miles south of El Salvador, San Salvador, but plans are afoot to complete the route through the republics of Nicaragua and Costa Rica to Panama and then into South America.

DUTY RULING

Ottawa, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—It is announced by the Department of National Revenue that the processing tax and the compensating tax imposed under the United States agricultural adjustment act may be disregarded in estimating the value for duty purposes of wheat products entering Canada from the United States. They may also be disregarded in estimating value for special duty. In the case of vegetable oils entering from the United States, the processing tax may be disregarded.

TRADE INDEX OPTIMISTIC

Conditions in Dominion Considerably Better Than Last Year, Bureau Says

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—Measured according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics economic index, conditions in Canada were considerably better last week than at the same time last year, said the bureau's weekly economic review. The index showed an increase of 13 per cent over the corresponding week of last year, taking the year 1926 as a base at 100 the index for the week of October 29, 1934, was 113.

The index for 587 commodities on the 1926 base was 71.3, compared with 71.4 in the preceding week. While moderate recession has been shown in the weekly index of wholesale prices since August 12, stability has characterized the commodity price level during the present year.

Government bonds averaged higher for the second consecutive week. Common stock prices receded slightly from the preceding week, but the index was 20.6 per cent greater than in the same week of last year.

EGYPT SOON TO HAVE NEW CABINET

Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 5.—The cabinet of Premier Abdul Fatta Yehia Pasha was reported to have resigned today.

Owing to the serious illness of King Fuad no successor has as yet been appointed. Tewfik Moustafa Pasha, former chief of the king's cabinet, Hafez Pasha, former minister in London, and Aly Maher Pasha, former Minister of Justice, are most prominently mentioned for the premiership. The reported resignation was fore-shadowed yesterday when the king was represented as too ill to conduct the affairs of state. Premier Abdul Yehia was said to be in disfavour with the British High Commissioner.

Personal

"A DOUBLE-MINDED MAN IS UNSTABLE," said a good preacher Sunday night. Ten thousand Israelites never bowed a knee to Baal, but like millions of today's people, sat astride of the fence. If people would grasp their puny souls and jump over on the side of truth and justice, the "war of the world" would be replaced with happiness and prosperity. Our coarse wheat bread, our Roman Meal bread, in fact, all our building foods would then have better effect, as happiness and contentment go a long way in building a healthy body. Let the world stop—start to be a Daniel—buy our quality foods and live a long and useful life. Golden Loaf Bakery, 711 Fort Street.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

"VIVA VILLA" AT THE PLAYHOUSE

Wallace Beery Has Leading Role; ZaSu Pitts Is Also Featured on Programme

Music of Mexico—sentimental, rhythmic, gay—plays an interesting part in "Viva Villa," starring Wallace Beery, which is at the Playhouse Theatre.

To the folk songs of the southern republic, which are sung at various times during the film, is added a new sentimental number "Madre Mia," by Herbert Stothart, noted composer.

And, adding to its novelty, the song is played on the guitar and sung by Beery himself! It is Beery's first singing role on the screen.

Other tunes sprinkled through the spectacular story include "La Caramacha," the ribald story of the adventures of the little cockroach, which has been sung in Mexico for generations. It is a rollicking tune.

Being shown on the same programme is "On a Honeymoon," starring ZaSu Pitts.

STAGE REVUE HERE FIDAY

"The Broadway Vanities" is the title of the latest road show that will visit Victoria over the coming week-end. It will open at the Empire Theatre on Friday and will show also on Saturday and Monday, with a special midnight matinee at 12.05 a.m. Monday.

This revue has appeared with outstanding success at many of the leading cities in the United States and recently enjoyed a successful tour of Pacific Coast cities, from San Diego to Seattle. It comes to Victoria with words of praise from the theatrical critic, who state the show is smart and colorful, with plenty of good music and dancing and good clean comedy.

This vaudeville moves with speed and precision. It is a well-presented "Eight diversified acts are presented without a break in the tempo."

Some of the stars are Ferris and Wilson, comedy act; Art, Bonger and Andrellita, musical comedy; The Three Sensations, fancy skaters; and Hille and Flint, a clever dance team.

"No Greater Glory" To Open To-morrow

There are tears and smiles, shivers and heart-stirring thrills in "No Greater Glory," the Columbia production which is to be seen for the first time at the Dominion Theatre to-morrow.

"No Greater Glory" stands out from the ordinary run of pictures because in its making the screen play-writer did not butcher Ferenc Molnar's famous novel "The Sons of Men," in adapting it for the screen.

Instead he creates the scenes as the original author wrote them, without flinching from truth. Then, too, "No Greater Glory" was directed by Frank Borzage from the quality of human feelings and actions as deep and sincere as those which lifted other of his productions so far above the commonplace.

The troupe was commanded by Major J. M. Tupper and Sgt. Major Frank Anderson. Staff-Sgt. M. J. Boone will be in charge of the exhibitions.

After unloading and adding their mounts, the detachment paraded with police escort, across town to Madison Square Garden.

The appearance of the "Mounted" at the show will reinforce the Canadian interest furnished by the Canadian army jumping team, which will compete in the international military jumping contests.

Major Tupper is a grandson of Sir Charles Tupper. He joined the police as a constable at the age of eighteen. Sgt. Major Anderson has spent twenty-two years in the force and is senior non-commissioned officer of the division. Staff-Sgt. J. J. Boone is one of the old-timers of the force. He enlisted in 1912, resigned to serve in the Great War and later returned to rejoin.

NEW MUSICAL GROUP STARTS

Victoria Philharmonic Society Plans "Il Trovatore" For December

A promising start was made last week by the new Philharmonic Society at its first rehearsal of Verdi's lovely opera, "Il Trovatore," which is planned to present at the Royal Victoria Theatre during December.

The society has secured a large and comfortable studio on the top floor of the Central Building as a rehearsal home, to be used as an office and also for auditions, orchestral practices and for chorus rehearsals.

It has been arranged to hold rehearsals twice weekly for the chorus and the next rehearsal will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the studio on the top floor of the Central Building.

The musical director, Basil Hornfall, is making an appeal for additional tenors and basses.

Special dates will be fixed, after the arrival of the orchestral music, for practice of the orchestra.

The vocal opera scores for "Il Trovatore" may now be obtained at 312 Union Building.

CAPITOL THEATRE
Because they looked as alike as brothers, six young actors won important roles in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," the M-G-M picture which is at the Capitol Theatre.

Individual and group tests were made of hundreds of young men and the final selection was made from a series of eliminations.

The problem was to find six men who looked enough alike to appear as brothers and yet retain distinguishing characteristics for their separate parts.

The boys chosen are Vernon Downing, Peter Hobbes, Neville Clark, Matthew Smith, Robert Carleton and Allan Conrad.

MOUNTIES AT HORSE SHOW

Thirty-five Members of Canadian Force to Appear at New York Affair

New York, Nov. 5.—The "Mounted" came to town to-day. Thirty-five strong, in their scarlet and gold, members of the N division of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, detained at the Grand Central terminal. They were bound for Madison Square Garden and the National Horse Show, which will open on Wednesday.

The troupe was commanded by Major J. M. Tupper and Sgt. Major Frank Anderson. Staff-Sgt. M. J. Boone will be in charge of the exhibitions.

After unloading and adding their mounts, the detachment paraded with police escort, across town to Madison Square Garden.

"HAY FEVER" THIS EVENING

Little Theatre Group to Present Coward Play at Shrine Auditorium

Noel Coward's play, "Hay Fever," will be presented at the Shrine Auditorium this evening by members of the Little Theatre Association of Victoria.

The casting committee of the Little Theatre has chosen the members of "Hay Fever" cast very carefully. Mrs. Lucy Wharton will carry the leading feminine role of Judith Sills, the mother of the family and an ex-actress. Judith finds it very hard to forget the stage and to let its glamour slip through her fingers, and her natural tendency toward "cues" and her love of "noises" give the play many surprise touches. H. T. Hewitt has been chosen to play the part of David Bliss. David is a novelist whose chief worry is his family. The lovely opera, "Il Trovatore," which is planned to present at the Royal Victoria Theatre during December.

BEN BERNIE AT THE COLUMBIA

Ben Bernie, of musical fame, featured in Paramount's "Shoot the Works," showing to-day at the Columbia Theatre, revealed that his own career has not been unlike the part he plays in this, his first motion picture.

In the film Bernie plays a band leader. He starts with a five-piece orchestra in the small-time, and finishes with a seventeen-piece band in a swanky cabaret.

"Shoot the Works" was directed by Wesley Ruggles from an original play written by Ben Hecht and Gene Fowler, and features Jack Oakie, Dorothy Dell and Arline Judge. The film also features six songs. They are: "With My Eyes Wide Open, I'm Dreaming," "Take a Lesson From the Lark," "Do I Love You?" "In the Good Old Winter Time," and "A Bowl of Chop Suey and You-er." All were written by Gordon and Reuel and Rainer and Robin.

THE PROVE ACE HIGH Mudders 'o Hand Nanaimo Setback

DAVE KOMONEN, the flying Finn of Sudbury who won everything in sight in 1933 and was left out in the cold by the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada when the Crowe Trophy was awarded to Jimmy Ball of Winnipeg, is making a comeback in inner circles. This year he may get the trophy, designed officially for the outstanding athlete in Canada. Komonen is a well-known figure in both the United States and Canadian marathon championships. Instead of the Crowe Trophy he had to wait until the year-end when the sports writers offered with the A.A.U. selectors, voting Dave the outstanding athlete in a poll conducted by The Canadian Press.

Komonen's 1934 record is one better than a year ago. He won the Boston marathon and retained both his national titles. But there is a blemish on the Finn's book, put there by Harold Webster of Hamilton, and the A.A.U. selectors are certain to give this blemish a close inspection. To conquer all his own record, Komonen had to win the British Empire Games trial last summer, and then the British Empire Games title. He did neither. Webster ran him into the track in the trials, the Sudbury ace quitting at fourteen miles. Then Webster won the Empire championship at London.

So the A.A.U. boys will have as leading aspirants for the Crowe Trophy two marathons. They are the best in North America this year. Komonen cleaned up on all the best in the United States and then Webster cleaned up on him. The fact that Dave was the most pitiful figure at the trials at Hamilton. Perhaps he was not rested enough to do battle with such Webster, for he had won the U.S. title only seven days before at Washington, D.C. But when he tried to make the Canadian team as a three-mile then as a five-mile, his downfall was very complete indeed.

Komonen found out two things this season. One is to rest well before taking on the forty-year-old Webster, a doughty campaigner who is one of the world's best when he has primed himself for a specific contest. The other is to steer clear of the fellows who know more than he does about the shorter distances. The man who won the final of the United States and the Canadian marathons is a great runner, a bang-up Crowe Trophy candidate. So is the marathon champion of the British Empire Games, the late last April, for instance, it is estimated that Portsmouth received $70,000 application for tickets for the match with Manchester City.

The English Football Association has at last made a move in the much vexed question of allotment of tickets for those teams who reach the final of the F.A. Cup. At its last meeting the F.A. council decided that a larger proportion of tickets should in future be available for two first-class seats for each of the two teams competing in the final. Each ticket would cost £100, of course, was totally inadequate to deal with the demand, and year after year the tickets could have been sold over and over again. Last April, for instance, it is estimated that Portsmouth received $70,000 application for tickets for the match with Manchester City.

English football never fails to rise to the occasion in the cause of charity. Charges of commercialism have been levied at the game, but never is any mention made of the good work done for charity. When an appeal for funds was made for the relief of the dependents of the Grosford Colliery disaster football did not turn a deaf ear. Every team was ordered by the F.A. to make a collection at one of their home matches. The results of these efforts are not yet known, but a very useful sum is certain to be forthcoming. Then, at their recent meeting the F.A. council authorized £250 for the Grosford families. Hospitals, always requiring financial assistance, can always look forward to the football season with the assurance that some money, however small, will be coming in.

The proceeds of the practice matches each year are devoted entirely to charity. This year it is announced that the matches in August realized a total sum of £17,125 14s 10d, all of which was distributed to charitable institutions. Glamorous Arsenal F.C., who attracted a crowd of about 50,000 to see them have their try-out, were easily at the top of the list with £1,315. Altogether London clubs handed over a sum of £4,675. Tottenham Hotspurs came second with £2,554. In addition to this charity competitions are run in every county and useful contributions made to deserving causes. Some of the big soccer clubs have endowed beds in their local hospitals and pay for their upkeep. One well-known third division club in the east end of London, for instance, has 150 beds in various hospitals. Say what they may, football's critics cannot point to any game in England that makes a stronger appeal to the masses of any outdoor sport in the deserving cause of charity.

City and Esquimalt Tie in Stiff Battle

Victoria City and Esquimalt fought to a 1-1 score at Heywood Avenue in the only second division football match played Saturday afternoon. Esquimalt scored the half-time goal in the first half for the City, while Stewart scored for the Dockers soon after the resumption of play.

Battle Way Through Mud and Water in Registering Hard-fought 5 to 4 Win

Rookies Do Well For Local Team

Slipping and sliding their way through inches of mud, over treacherous turf, and in a steady torrent of rain, Victoria United players registered a brilliant 5 to 4 victory over Nanaimo City in the opening match of the island championship football series at the Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon. Playing under the worst conditions possible the United made a splendid start in defence of the Brackman-Ker Cup. One game to the good, the Victoria eleven will travel to Nanaimo for the second encounter of the four-match series. Saturday's match was witnessed by a packed stand and the fans saw a good exhibition, despite the muddy field and water-soaked ball. Victoria led 3 to 2 at the interval.

Outstanding in the Victoria victory was Jimmy Hay, hard-working left halfback. The Esquimalt veteran turned in one of the finest games of his career, and played an indirect part in three of Victoria's goals. He was the best man on the field on the offence and defence, and time after time his clever work drew applause from the spectators. Three youngsters, Doug Laird and Reg. Stoffer, the backs, and George Payne at outside left, making their first appearance in intercity football, turned in fine performances. Payne scored Victoria's first goal and his work on the left wing was outstanding. Laird played a sound game at left back, while Stoffer played well and his hasty kicking and headwork broke up more than one Nanaimo rush.

ALL PLAY WELL. The remainder of the local club also clicked well. Joe Crowe worked hard at centre-half, Ronnie Williams, at left half, let little get by him. Feature of the Victoria front line was the fine manner in which Noel Morgan and Payne worked. Morgan, who reached the final of the United States and the Canadian marathons is a great runner, a bang-up Crowe Trophy candidate. So is the marathon champion of the British Empire Games, the late last April, for instance, it is estimated that Portsmouth received $70,000 application for tickets for the match with Manchester City.

Joe Pryke Takes Over at Colwood

Joe Pryke, holder of the Alberta open golf championship and formerly associated with an Edmonton club, arrived in Victoria yesterday and to-day took up his duties as professional at the Colwood Golf Club. Pryke succeeds the late Alex Marling. The new pro is recognized as one of the finest golfers in the Dominion and Victoria is fortunate in adding such a fine player to its already impressive list. Pryke is expected to play a leading role in future Pacific Northwest tournaments.

G. HODGSON IS CADDY CHAMP

Defeats Jack McSweeney in Final For City Laurels on Rain-soaked Course

Shooting twenty-sixes on both morning and afternoon rounds, George Hodgson, young Uplands bag carrier, won the city caddies tournament on his rain drenched home course on Saturday, defeating Jack McSweeney, also of the Uplands, 4 and 3.

As the result of his victory, Hodgson gained the handsome trophy donated by Mrs. David Spencer, emblematic of first honors in his class in the city. Hodgson took a two-hole lead over McSweeney on the first eighteen, and then set up a five-hole lead at the start of the afternoon play. McSweeney played right with the leader and sliced his margin to two holes on the thirteenth. He could not match Hodgson in the late play, however, and was beaten.

Walter Spaven produced some outstanding golf to take the first flight honors, defeating L. Baker 6 and 4. He completed his deciding eighteen in 37. Following the matches, Bert Chaloner, president of the Uplands Club, presented the cup and other prizes to the young winners. He congratulated the new champion and runner-up on their splendid golf and also the remaining competitors. He was introduced to the caddies by Walter Spaven, chairman of the tournament committee. It was decided to hold the meet next year during the last week in August, and a committee of three, Walter Spaven, Col. Lightbody, and Bert Chaloner, were appointed to draw up the terms. The caddies tendered a hearty vote of thanks to those who helped make the tourney a success, with special mention to the women scorers and Ken Lawson and Ted Slingby, official referee and starter, respectively.

Blue Ribbons Win By Decisive Edge

Turn Back New Westminster Adanacs 46 to 16 in Intercity Basketball Clash; Local Club Flashes Brilliant Form in First Major Game of Season

Hats off to the 1934-35 edition of the Blue Ribbon senior A basketball team. Making their first official appearance of the season against first class opposition, the Victoria boys ran roughshod over the New Westminster Adanacs at the High School gym Saturday night, and walked off the floor with a sweet 46 to 16 victory. The triumph of the former Canadian champions over one of the strongest teams on the mainland more than pleased the 400 fans who had gathered to see the Ribbons under fire for the first time this year.

As the score would indicate, the Ribbons had it all over their rivals from a blanket, and after the first three or four minutes of the game, had the situation well in hand. Their passing and running attack had the Adanacs pretty well on the defensive all night.

FEDER HIGH MAN
To young Doug Feden, guard, went the honors of high scoring. Doug, named in one of the games, his short career by collecting fourteen points. That from a defence man is an unusual feat, especially so when his check only managed to score a lone point. The high man for the visitors was centre-man Smith, who scored three of the Adanacs' four field baskets and a couple of free throws for eight points.

The game itself opened rather slowly with both teams playing cautious ball. McKean fouled Martin who missed the free throw. Martin scored seconds later on a floor length pass from Art Chapman. Art potted a looping shot from centre to make the score 4 to 0. "Hooker" Wright was fouled by Craig, but the attempt to shoot failed. Craig came back and fouled McKean, who finally broke the ice for the Adanacs for one point. On a block play, Chuck Chapman fouled Wally Mayers, who scored. A Chapman sank one of his now famous one-handers from the wing, and Wright came back with a fine point when fouled by McKean. Art Chapman failed to score when awarded two free throws on Smith's foul. Feden broke into the scoring column with a nice overhead shot from the foul line, and Martin made it 9 to 3 by scoring one of two free throws on a foul by McKean. Young McKean made his first field basket in big time basketball and received a great hand from the crowd. He was fouled by Wright while in the act of shooting, but failed to make the extra point. Mayers missed a free throw when hacked by C. Chapman. The Ribbons were checking hard and giving the Adanacs no chance to get in close. McKean scored Adanacs' fourth point when Feden was called for holding.

Province Cagers Beaten By V.A.C.

Vancouver, Nov. 5.—The V.A.C. basketball team gained a 27 to 23 victory Saturday evening at the expense of The Province, Dominion champs. It was the first defeat for The Province in four starts. The first half opened slowly with much poor passing and wild shooting. V.A.C. led 19 to 11, at the interval.

Province showed some good form after the rest, outscoring their rivals, 14 to 8. The game finished fast, V.A.C. barely managing to eke out a two-point victory.

Ching Johnson With Rangers

Winnipeg, Nov. 5.—Ivan "Ching" Johnson was travelling along with New York Rangers to-day and the National Hockey League club's stock was quoted above par. To the uninitiated, Johnson is the heavy defence factor where the Rangers are concerned. Long a holdout, the colorful Johnson arrived in time to participate in a formal joust with Montreal Maroons here Saturday night.

CLASSY BOUTS ON WEDNESDAY

Muzz Patrick and Runner Up For Canadian Title Last Year Headline Show

Muzz Patrick, lanky young Victoria all-rounder, who sprung into the role of the Kato Kid in his first and last public appearance as a boxer here, will match punches with Art Keating, Navy, former Winnipeg boy, who was in the Canadian light-heavyweight final last year, as the main attraction of the Victoria Athletic Club's amateur contest at the Billium gym on Wednesday evening.

Muzz, who has developed a punch of no mean power, will probably have all he can handle when he steps into the ring against the Manitoban who worked his way to the runner-up berth in his class at Hamilton last year. The pair will fight at 175 pounds.

In another bout of interest on the programme, which includes several mixes with outsiders, Rex Carey, Kelowna boy who holds the Interior amateur title in his class, will stack up against Dick McEmin, V.A.C., in a 140-pound set-to.

Of the ten bouts, seven will feature out-of-town boxers, including the miniature flashes, Kid Kernachan and Roy Battle, diminutives from Chemsalun.

The curtain will go up at 8:30 o'clock and the complete card follows:

Muzz Patrick, V.A.C., vs. Art Keating, Navy, 175 pounds.
W. D. Carey, Chemsalun, vs. Roy Battle, Navy, 175 pounds.
George Kiser, Canadian Scottish, vs. Bill Griffin, Millicent, 135 pounds.
Dick Kerr, V.A.C., vs. Smokey Hodgins, Chemsalun, 120 pounds.
Alex Webster, Canadian Scottish, vs. Charlie Jordan, 135 pounds.
George White, Canadian Scottish, vs. Harry McDonald, Navy, 160 pounds.
Dick McEmin, V.A.C., vs. Rex Carey, Kelowna, 140 pounds.
Kid Kernachan, Chemsalun, vs. Roy Battle, Chemsalun, 60 pounds.
Bob Parker, Canadian Scottish, Duncan, vs. Pete Casson, Ladysmith, 120 pounds.
George Haslam, Fifth Brigade, vs. Ernie McEmin, V.A.C., 115 pounds.

MAT GAME DUE FOR COMEBACK

Judging from the thrills a fair crowd got from a colorful card offered at the Tillium gym Saturday evening wrestling looks due for a comeback in Victoria. There were four bouts all packed with action and the enthusiastic fans more than got their money's worth. The Steve Neno-Danny McDonald headline was one of the liveliest affairs seen in Victoria since the game came to town.

A lot of feeling developed between the Bulgarian and the Toronto boy early in the fray and elbows and fists flew freely at different stages of the battle. They went two rounds without a fall, although the best Toronto boy landed flying tackles that would have finished any less hard grappler than Steve.

Reece Fears often had to break the boys and both of them resented it as they let loose with everything they had. In the third Neno-Danny pulled out all the stops and made that the Toronto man tap the mat. The fifth ended with Neno-Danny being disqualified and five men in the ring trying to keep two rats matmen apart. Chief of Police Healey eventually had to order Steve to leave.

Herb Parks, Vancouver, and Bob Wagner, New Hampshire, staged five swift rounds in the semi-wind-up to a draw and the bout was good enough for a headline spot. The Vancouver man showed the swiftest stuff in flying tackles and mid-air flying kicks that has ever been seen here.

Nets Three Goals in Twenty-five Minutes to Defeat Stoke City in English Football Feature; Weddle, Gibbons and G. Brown Also Pull Hat-trick

London, Nov. 5.—The English League football table looked more like its usual self to-day with the Arsenal, twice league champions, once more at the top, though only by virtue of a better goal average than Sunderland, which was even on points.

Saturday's English football was the battling Stoke City outfit, but the leadership remains closely contested with ten teams divided by only four points. A feature is the great showing being made by Grimsby Town, the newcomers from the Second Division, who are in fourth place, only a point back of Stoke and two points from the top.

The contention in the Second Division also tightened up following Saturday's fixtures, which saw Bolton's lead shaved to a game over Manchester City of the Southern Section of the Third Division, a win for Coventry and a loss for Charlton served to put the two back into a tie for the leadership, and the situation prevails in the Northern Section, where Tranmere and Halifax continue deadlocked after each winning again at home.

FAST SCORING
Stoke City crashed heavily from the top when they entrained Sunderland, losing a 3 to 0 verdict. Gurney, Sunderland's smart centre forward, did all the scoring within twenty-five minutes in the first half and they might have had more at the terrific pace the visitors were setting. Carter, however, crashed a hot shot against the post and later Stoke kicked the ball off the goal-line when a counter seemed certain. For the rest of the match Sunderland seemed content to hold the lead.

Another great crowd of 60,000 turned out at Highbury to see the Gunners get back in their accustomed position at the top by beating Everton to a 5 to 0. Bastin scored the first, a hot left-footed shot, after forty minutes, and Gee, Everton's pivot, knocked a win was costly for Arsenal, however, as Beasley, their out-side-right, cut his leg badly, needing three stitches in the interior, was, outstanding for Everton.

Manchester City, the cupholders, trounced the Spurs 3 to 1 to climb up again into fifth place with the same points as the Grimsby men. The City tried an experimental right wing attack with Herd and Lucie, the latter normally half-back, and both scored. Heale getting the other Evans scored for Spurs, all in the first half.

For the second week in succession Weddle pulled the hat-trick to help Portsmouth to a 5 to 0 victory over the luckless Rutherfordfield Town, contenders of last season's FA Cup. Weddle scored three goals in the first half. Rutherfordfield has garnered only seven points out of thirteen games, one less than Chelsea.

A crowd of 40,000 saw the local "derby" between Birmingham and Leicester City won by the latter with the odd goal in five. Both sides needed points to the bottom. Brentford defeated Bolton Wanderers by the lone goal scored in a thrilling encounter on the former's ground. The second half of their back play had the Bolton attack tied up while Holiday netted the sole goal of the match.

United got within a game of the leader by beating Blackpool 2 to 1 in another grim struggle. Blackpool should have had a good lead at the half, but it was not to be. The score, however, was in the Manchester net, was in rare form. Hampson scored for Blackpool, and then Manchester showed a great rally, brought goals from Bryant and McDonald, the latter in a goal-mouth scramble in the last minute of play.

Gibbons pulled the hat-trick for Fulham in the second, but to a 3 to 3 tie. O. Brown, former Aston Villa player, also scored a hat-trick for Burnley against Hull City.

Glasgow, Nov. 5. — St. Johnstone saw their brief domination of the First Division of the Scottish Soccer League to-day come to an end, as they slipped by a single point over the champion Glasgow Rangers and the surprising Hamilton Academicals, with Hearts only a point further back. The big game of the week-end was that at Ibrox Park, where Rangers pulled down St. Johnstone 3 to 1, but only after a keen struggle. As in most other places, the Glasgow team was on top at the end, following first, and in heavy mist, the fog at Ibrox indeed made it difficult to follow the play.

St. Johnstone were superior in the first half, scoring first, but the Ranger half-backs took command in the second period, and the visitors' attack faded under the pressure. Rangers were well on top at the end. Vinters, with two goals, and Gillie were the scorers, while Stewart counted for the Saints. Hamilton kept on even with Rangers by beating Albion Rovers, the recruits from the Second Division, 4 to 2, after Albion had twice established a lead.

The Rovers could not keep the pace, and the Accies won easily at the finish. King, twice, Read and Wilson scored for the winners, while Brown and Lyon netting for the Albions. Aberdeen put up the best game of the season to beat Clyde 3 to 1, and go into a tie with Clyde for fifth place. Clyde put up a heroic defence, in which Stevenson was brilliant, but Miller, who scored Aberdeen's first goal, was the finest player on the field. Donaldson equalized for Clyde, and Armstrong had the winning goal on a penalty. Airdrieonians, making a great stand

Gunners defeat Garrison Squad

Climb to Within Point of League-leaders as Navy Held to Draw By J.B.A.A. Fifteen; Scottish Win By Default From Wanderers

All the better for their beating the previous week, the Fifth Brigade senior rugger climbed back to within one point of the league lead at Macdonald Park Saturday as they battled through the rain, on the greasy pitch, to beat the Garrison 8 to 0. At the same time, the league-leading Navy boys were held to a surprising draw by a twelve-man James Bay Athletic Association team at Oak Bay Park, the final score reading three all.

Drubbed a couple of times and held to a draw once, the Canadian Scottish achieved their first verdict of the year when Oak Bay Wanderers were held to a three-all draw.

Senior players of the Macdonald Park Wanderers Blues blanked the Fifth Brigade 8 to 0, and the College-Whites game was cancelled in the second district.

Held out fairly well by the Garrison in the first part of the game, the Fifth Brigade deserved the victory on their second-half showing at Macdonald Park.

With the slippery ball making handling difficult, neither the Tommies nor the Gunners could make headway as the game started.

However, a few minutes after the opening, Fleming took the ball from the scrum and swung it to Scott, who drew his man nicely and passed to Paul Rowe near the Garrison twenty-five-yard line. Rowe got away on a nice broken field run, cleared behind the Tommies' line and put the ball down near the posts for the first try, which McInnes converted.

The Garrison came right back from the kick-off and gained nice ground when they broke through on loose Fifth Brigade passing in the latter's territory.

The Garrison gained a kick inside the Gunners' twenty-five near the side line, but a trick drop floated into Desha's arms and the Garrison boy ran play back to clear.

Haines kicked away with a soccer boot and Fleming got away on a run started by McInnes as the ball came back. Fleming tried to go through alone and went down with the ball. McInnes missed a placement when the Garrison played offside.

Just before the interval the Garrison reached deep into the Gunners' ground on short punts and punts and maintained pressure until a twenty-five-yard kick finally cleared. At half-time there was a hail of rain.

The Garrison resumed on the attack and several times forced close to the Fifth Brigade line, but could not finish off their attacks.

Late in the game the Gunners began to get the ball from the scrum and forced to the Tommies' line. Wally Slupe and John Lee, of the Gunners and Garrison, respectively, were ordered from the field during the half for arguing too violently.

The game developed into a scramble, the ground was water conditions making good rugby impossible. Several times the Gunners came within acres of scoring, but the slippery ball shot from the runners' hands when they seemed to be going over.

Fleming scored from time Fleming scooped up a loose ball in the Brigade's ground and dummied his way through on a tricky run, which carried him across the Garrison line for the second and last try. The kick failed.

A. E. Walls refereed and the teams followed:

Fifth Regiment—McInnes, Haines, Scott, Rowe, Simpson, Fleming, Slupe, Desha, Gray, de Blaquiere, Peden, Dawson, Eastham, Gault, and Hobson. Garrison—Chapman, Eastick, Loveless, Pocock, Buxton, Martin, Stewart, Hall, Wharton, Teskey, Lee, Patterson, Neil, Rowton and Featherstone.

Unable to cope with the unfavorable weather conditions and a dogged defence of the numerically weak Navy, league leaders, were held to a three-all draw in their game.

Both teams had the utmost difficulty in handling, although the rowing club backs, equipped with gloves, made a better showing in that department.

After an early drive into the Navy ground, the Boys were bucked back to mid-field, where play remained for several minutes.

PETTYCROW KICKS PENALTY

The rowing club finally gained points when Pettycrow converted nicely on a penalty kick thirty-five yards from the Garrison's line. It was the only score for the Garrison.

In the second half the Boys tried hard to hold their margin and drove deep into the Navy ground.

The sailors, however, used their weight and power effectively to force back down to the J.B.A.A. line and then went over in a heap. Bert Barker grounding the ball for the equalizing try. Robertson's kick failed to rise.

The sailors continued to press and several times were dangerous. Good kicking, however, brought the Boys through following a five-yard scrum, and the game ended without further score.

Teams follow:

J.B.A.A.—Robinson, Beck, Winby, Addison, Brown, Lowe, Petticrow, Peard, Martello, Usher, Goad and Croft.

Navy—Robinson, Banfield, Hall, Sweet, Smith, McDonald, Freeman, Nixon, Barker, McInnes, Sweetnam, Briggs, Caldwell, Corbin and Rutherford.

R. McConnan's successful penalty kick in the first half and try which he converted in the second gave the Wanderers' Blues their 8 to 0 verdict in the only intermediate game of the day played at Work Point grounds.

The try came after a fumble by the young Gunners. Several times the Brigade boys rallied, but could not get through.

FIVE GREATS FOR CLASSIC

Groom Equipoise, Twenty Grand, Cavalcade, Discovery, Head Play For Race

New York, Nov. 5.—Equipoise, Twenty Grand, Cavalcade, Discovery, Head Play—just imagine a horse race with these five competitors. It is likely to materialize, too. All five are in training for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap in California on February 23. This race, the richest offered on the United States turf in almost an event to decide the championship of champions.

Equipoise, still campaigning as a six-year-old in an attempt to surpass Sun Beau's world money-winning record of $376,744, was the two-year-old money-winning champion of 1930, holds the world record for a mile, 1:34 3-5, and despite frequent lameness has amassed stake winnings of $394,450.

BROKE DERBY RECORD

Twenty grand, the turf's supreme star after he broke the Kentucky Derby record in 1931 in 2:01 4-5, the fastest time for a mile and a quarter in ten years, has been in retirement for two years, but has returned to training. He holds the world two-year-old record for a mile, 1:36.

Cavalcade, undisputed money-winning champion of the current season, defeated only once this year by a nose by his stablemate, High Quest, in the Freehanded, won $111,235 this season. He is yet to be beaten at a mile and a quarter.

Discovery, winner of the 1933 Preakness, also is in training for a comeback. Head Play is a formidable racer when at his best, and many experts still believe he was the best horse in the 1933 Derby, but was the victim of a faulty ride.

Smith came right back and scored Westminster's first field basket of the game. Smith followed up by fouling Chuck who missed.

CALL TIME OUT

Six minutes from the interval, Adams called time out and B. McDonald replaced H. McDonald, while G. Andrews went on for McKeechie, who received a nice hand as he left the floor. A. Chapman and McEwan scored free throws when fouled by Mayers and Martin, respectively.

On a rebound by Andrews, Martin scored and followed up with a free shot to make it 14 to 6. Peden scored three free throws, and on a snappy pass from Martin, Art Chapman made it 17 to 6, with four minutes to go. Matheson replaced Douglass.

Another foul line overhand shot by Peden put the Ribbons up, 19 to 6. Smith tipped in Adams' rebound for Adams' second field basket. Andrews picked up two points on a basket and Chuck added one point on a free throw. Mayers scored two free throws when fouled by both C. Chapman and Peden. This was Chuck's third foul of the game. Smith completed the scoring with his third basket of the game and the Ribbons led by the score 22 to 12 for the Ribbons.

In this period, the Ribbons scored four points on free throws and missed seven, while the Adams' score was 12 to 6. The Adams' score was 12 to 6.

The second stanza opened with C. Chapman sinking one from the side, followed by a basket by A. Chapman on a pass from Martin. Peden scored one of two free throws, making it 17 to 12. The Ribbons were rushing their shots and missing the hoop, and five shots in a row on the basket went for no score.

After seven minutes on a foul and Adams took time out.

MAYERS GOES OUT

On a loose up under the local basket, McEwan tapped the ball through the hoop for Adams' first field basket of this half. Peden repeated with a free throw and Mayers went out of the game when he fouled Craig for his fourth personal. Craig missed. Matheson replaced Mayers. On Smith's foul, Martin scored, and on a basket play, Art Chapman rang the hoop. Score 23 to 15. McDonald replaced Matheson. The Adams were resorting to long shots that were getting them nowhere. A delayed push shot by Peden was good for two points, and Craig came through with a buzzer from the wing. Smith made a free throw good. McKeechie and Andrews replaced Martin and Craig. Andrews brought the house down by passing to Peden for another two points. Score 29 to 16. Peden was good for another two points to make it 41 to 16, and two free shots by the same player made it 43 to 16. Chuck Chapman finished the scoring with a shot from underneath the hoop.

In the preliminary game, the league-leading Deslats ran into a fog and were handed an unexpected defeat at the hands of the second-place Regents 24 to 15.

Alan LeMarquand and Tommy Macdonald referred the big game, while Jack Taylor replaced Martin and Mayers. The teams and scores followed:

Blue Ribbons—Martin 7, C. Craig 2, Peden 14, Andrews 4, McKeechie 4, Adams—Mayers 3, Smith 2, Wright 1, Matheson 6, McDonald 1, Douglas 1, McNight, Meenan, T. McDonald, McEwan 4.

Deslats—Robt J. McLean, Coates 4, Taylor, Lansell 2, Campbell 3, Shepherd 5.

Regents—Webster 6, Hudson 6, Fleming 4, Wallis 4, Smith, Sharpe, Noakes 4, MacDonalds, Chambers.

The Hudson's Bay girls hoopers noosed out the home quintette, 21 to 18, after a fast game Saturday night at the West Road Hall, to chalk up another win in the British Columbia Suburban Basketball League. After a ten-minute overtime period, West Road won a close game, 28 to 26, over Royal Oak.

A CHAMPION OF CHAMPIONS

"Stockfield Aristocrat," Alredale Terrier, has a right to look "perky."

In addition to being declared first prize winner and champion and best of breed, "Stocky" was awarded the coveted title of "Champion Dog of the Show" at the London Kennel Club's seventy-third exhibition. Not satisfied with these honors, the Alredale captured six cups.

He is shown with the trophy he won with "best of show" honors.

Hockey Gossip

It's just as well exhibition games don't mean a thing to National Hockey League clubs or there would be heads in the basket at Toronto Leaf's camp to-day, for Conny Smythe's highly-rated outfit clashed with their farm team at Syracuse yesterday evening and came out on the wrong end of a 7 to 5 score.

And it wasn't one of these hockey games where the big league team generously tosses a forward line or two to the minors to help them out. With only a few practices under their belt the Stars went out with their own meagre material and trounced the mighty Torontoians.

After Leafs had scored four goals in the first period they let down and only scored once more. Syracuse staged some smart drives, and tallied three times in the second frame and four times in the third. Leafs' new kid line looked good with Pep Kelly getting two goals and Art Jackso another.

It was Toronto's second pre-season tilt in two nights. On Saturday they beat London Tecumsehs 6 to 3 in a bruising battle at London. Leafs' coach Harold Cootson, Andy Blair and Ken Doray, their third line of last year, to Techs, and they opposed their probable successors, the new kid string. The old timers, didn't give them a chance to get started, and Art Jackson's goal was the only one they got.

King Clancy, who appears to be trying to perfect a tripping technique in exhibition games where penalties don't matter, was called on it during the Syracuse game, and penalty shot awarded. At London he swapped punches with Eric Pettinger, and got himself a major penalty.

Red Horner, a disciple of Clancy's, got a ten-minute misconduct penalty for "showing the referee around" at London, and Bill Thomas drew another for pounding with his stick on the wire guarding a goal judge.

Boston Bruins showed clear superiority over Montreal Canadiens in winning their game at Quebec yesterday 5 to 3, and taking the series 2 to 1. Canadiens' first line of Pete LePage, Aurel Joliat and Wilfred LeRochelle couldn't match Bruins' string of Marty Barry, Dit Clapper and Red Beattie, although their second line of Jack Rish, Joe Lamb and George Mantha looked good.

New York Rangers took their series with Montreal Maroons with two games to a tie, and a tie, although they lost Saturday night 6 to 2. The teams have left for St. Paul for another series before they open the season Thursday.

Owners of the Ottawa franchise now transferred to St. Louis may be in the money soon, after years of losing red ink. Four thousand persons turned out to watch them practice yesterday, and if that many will pay to see them play they will be happy.

CAPTAIN'S TEAM WINS

Defeats President's Side 16½ to 14½ in Annual Golf Match at Colwood

By a score of 16½ to 14½ the captain's team defeated the president's squad in the annual competition held at the Colwood Golf Club yesterday. Two strong teams met and majority of the matches were keenly fought.

Few Changes Seen In Boston Bruins

Gagnon, Pusie, Sands and Shill Are Main Replacements in Club For This Year's Hockey League Campaign; Frank Patrick at Helm

Boston, Nov. 5.—Black Cats are good luck omens, and Art Ross, astute business manager of Boston Bruins, thinks that the black cat he befriended in Saint John the other day is going to bring good luck to his Bruins in the National Hockey League campaign which opens this week.

Ross had the cat cross his path in a hotel lobby as the Bruins arrived in the New Brunswick city to play Montreal Canadiens in an exhibition game.

Another black cat may also bring good fortune to the Boston club. He is Johnny Gagnon, right winger the Bruins got from Canadiens in a trade for Joe Lamb. Johnny has been known up around Montreal as "The Chicoutimi Black Cat," partly because of his sleek black hair and dark, swarthy complexion, and partly because of the lithe, catlike quickness of his movements on the ice.

Frank Patrick resigned his post as managing director of the Bruins at the close of the last season and now reappears as coach of the Bruins, replacing Art Ross as active bench pilot of the club. Ross this year will have general direction of the club affairs and will team with Frank Patrick in an advisory capacity.

LITTLE CHANGE

Bruins, already proved a powerful club in their showing against Canadiens in pre-season exhibition games, will show little change from their battle array of last year.

Tiny Thompson has retained his position as goalie, Eddie Shore, burlly Alberta rancher, and one of the greatest defence stars the game has known, reached training camp in Quebec this year without any of his customary contract trouble. Big Eddie was right in there with the team when Patrick sent his boys tumbling out on to the ice for practice. Archie Wilcox, formerly the teams follow:

Nanaimo—Inkster, Gavin, Edmunds, Thompson, McGowan, English, Waugh, Tantrum, Grey, Watson and Wilson.

Victoria—DeCosta, Stoffer, Laird, Williams, Crowe, Hay, Viggers, Stewart, Watt, Morgan and Payne.

After twenty minutes Victoria went one goal up, Watt taking a pass from Stewart to start with a low shot well out of Inkster's reach. Nanaimo substituted Wilson for Watson on the left wing. Viggers got Victoria's fifth and final goal three minutes later, converting a pass from Watt. Three minutes before the final whistle English netted Nanaimo's final goal. For the remainder of the match the Victoria players were content to protect their one-goal margin.

Wheat Prices Dip

Wheat Prices Dip In Winnipeg P.

Canadian Press fractional declines. Cash grains

Winnipeg, Nov. 5.—Lack of offerings prevented still greater declines as Winnipeg Grain Exchange wheat future prices, influenced by easiness at Liverpool, dipped fractionally in dull trading to-day. Values closed 1/4

A firming-up tendency developed in the market's closing stages. The December future ended at 77½¢ and May at 82½¢.

Fluctuations were restricted to a narrow price range with trading quiet and featureless. A fractional advance at the opening was soon lost and values held at levels under the previous close for most of the session.

Disappointing export sales of Canadian wheat induced some pessimism

Liverpool prices closed $\frac{1}{8}$ to 10 lower and Chicago at one period was nearly a cent down. Buenos Aires showed corn, No. 3 mixed new, 75 $\frac{1}{2}$; oats 3 white, 53 $\frac{1}{4}$ to 53 $\frac{3}{4}$; buckwheat 1, 1.25; barley 75 to 1.15.

How to Make a Hit With the Boys—

Tells Girls What to Avoid

A YOUNG man of my acquaintance has compiled the following list of don'ts for girls who desire to be popular with men. He says: Don't be too independent. The clinging vines always get their men because they made a man feel how big and strong and superior he is. On the other hand, don't be a millstone around a man's neck. Acquire the art of knowing when to hang on and when to let go.

Don't look overjoyed when a man dates you up. Take it as a matter of course. A man thinks he must be a sap if he is the only one who ever noticed you. Act as if you could take 'em or leave 'em and it didn't matter which to you.

Don't be too easy. No man wants the mushy peach that threatens to fall in his mouth whether he desires it or not. The one he craves is the one that he has to climb a little for, but not too much nor too high. So calculate your distance and don't really get beyond arm's reach.

Don't overdress. A man likes a girl to be dolled up in pretty clothes, but she scares him off when she dikes herself out in what looks like a million dollars' worth of finery. He begins figuring the upkeep of a wife who is dressed to Paris, gowns and hats and jewels he can't afford her.

Don't use too much cosmetics. Don't paint your face up like the side of a barn. Go light on the lipstick. Lips that look like raw bloody meat do not whet any man's appetite for a kiss.

Don't make your flattery too obvious. All men are vain and like soft soap, but they want it applied artistically, not slapped on hit or miss with a trowel.

Don't be sentimental in public. Men have a sense of humor, even if girls haven't, and a man knows he never looks such a figure of fun as when he is spooning. If you want to get a line on how men feel about this, watch those couples in automobiles where the girl has her arms around a boy and her head on his shoulder and looking up soulfully in his face, while he is sitting up as rigid as a ramrod, with damn written all over him.

Don't hang on to a man's arm on the street and whenever you go out with him, as if you wanted to show the world that you had caught him and he belonged to you. It is bad enough for a wife to adopt that proprietary attitude toward her husband and hard enough for him to endure it after marriage.

Don't be critical. When a boy takes you out, he is trying to give you a good time, and the least you can do by way of return is to pretend you are enjoying yourself, whether you are or not. Never, never, never institute comparisons and tell some poor boy who is giving you sandwiches and beer what a grand dinner young millionbucks gave you at the Ritz.

Don't accept every invitation a boy offers you. Stay at home now and then with Mama and Papa. The harder it is to get a date with a girl, the more eager a boy is for it. Nothing succeeds like success. Men always want some other man's O.K. on a woman.

Don't brag about your conquests and tell how many men you could have married. It gives a boy cold feet because he feels that he will be Exhibit X in your collection of scalps, and you will be giving some other boy all the gory details of how you played him.

Don't call a boy up over the telephone in business hours. He will hate you for it because you are jeopardizing his job. Don't call a boy up at any time and reproach him for not having been to see you or inquire why he doesn't take you somewhere. He has your number and knows how to communicate with you if he so desires. There is no surer way for a girl to make herself unpopular with men than to be a telephone hound.

Don't be a gold-digger. Don't have more than one birthday a year. Don't hint for expensive presents at Christmas. Don't come down with your hat on ready to step out every time a boy shows his face at your door. Don't always order the most expensive dishes at a restaurant nor demand to be taken to high-priced night clubs. Go easy on a boy's pocket-book and he will take you out often, because he knows that an evening with you won't send him to a cheap lunch counter for a month.

Don't talk too much, and don't talk about yourself, ever. Men have a horror of girls who babble on forever and ever like a brook, and not one man in a million is interested in what a girl really thinks. Men like to talk about themselves, and what they want is a girl who is an intelligent listener, not a fluent conversationalist.

Don't think that you can get by with just a pretty face. That's to the good, of course, but if a girl wants to make a hit with men she has to have a lot of parlor tricks besides. She has to know how to be entertaining and amusing; how to dance and play a good game of bridge; how to fit in any company. Only senile grandpas fall for the beautiful but dumb, and Venus herself would be a wallflower if she had to be towed around a ballroom floor or trumped her partner's ace.

Don't ever tell a man you love him. Keep him guessing. That keeps him interested, and by the time he has found out you are safely married.

Any girl, says the young man, who faithfully follows these rules can marry any man she chooses.

Uncle Wiggily's Skating Trick

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Mrs. Longears, the rabbit lady wife of Uncle Wiggily, put her pink nose out from under the bed blanket one morning.

"How cold it is!" she said. "The weather turned very cold in the night. Wiggily Wiggily!" she called to her husband. "You must get up quickly. If you please, make a fire in the furnace. Our little bunnies will freeze if you don't!"

"Don't tell me it is freezing weather already," said the rabbit gentleman, popping out of bed.

"Yes, it is," said his wife. "Please make the fire."

"I will," said Mr. Longears. "And after that I am going skating."

"Oh, don't be silly! You can't skate!" said Mrs. Longears.

"Why not?" asked her husband.

"Make the fire and I'll tell you why," she said, twinkling her cold, pink nose at him. So, after the fire was made and the hollow stump brazier was lit and warm and the little bunny rabbits were ready for school, Mr. Longears again asked his wife:

"Why can't I skate?"

"Till now you?"

"Because, while you are a dear and I love you," she answered, "you are too old and fat to skate. You must have forgotten how. It is years since you have skated on the ice. And you never could roller skate, you know."

"That's right. I never could roller skate," said Uncle Wiggily, "but now that the duck pond is frozen, I'm going to show you I haven't forgotten how to skate on the ice. Come and see me this afternoon, my dear."

"Who is 'us'?" asked Mrs. Longears, laughing.

"Mr. Twistytail, Uncle Butter and I," said Uncle Wiggily, the rabbit lady.

"Mr. Twistytail also is too fat to skate and Uncle Butter is too old. You three will only fall down."

"Well, you can see," invited Uncle Wiggily. So that afternoon he hopped over to the fat pig gentleman's pen and to the house of Uncle Butter, the great gentleman. "Come and skate with me," said Mr. Longears.

"We'll show my wife and Nurse Jane we aren't too old and fat to skate."

"That's what we will!" grunted the pig. "The three animal friends were at the frozen duck pond with their skates. Mrs. Longears and Nurse Jane were there to watch. For a wonder the pig, the goat and the rabbit did manage to do a little skating without falling down."

"Now watch me do a trick!" bleated Uncle Butter. He skated fast and then, all of a sudden, he turned a somersault and landed on the ice upside down, skating on his horns.

"A fine trick!" grunted Mr. Twistytail. "Now watch me do one!" The pig gentleman

Puget Sound Ports Lose Trade To B.C.

Cost of Loading a Ship in British Columbia $1,500 Cheaper Than in Puget Sound; Uniform Wages Wanted at All Ports

Seattle, Nov. 5.—Decision of the National Longshoremen's Board increasing wages of waterfront workers over the scale in effect in British Columbia and establishing a six-hour day in a thirty-hour week is being reflected in the cargo movement from Puget Sound ports, shipping men said today.

As the loading costs in British Columbia are approximately $1,500 per ship lower than on Puget Sound, instances of vessels being diverted to Vancouver have been brought to the attention of operators on this side of the international boundary line.

On Puget Sound, the wages of longshoremen have been fixed at ninety-five cents an hour straight time and $1.40 an hour overtime for a six-hour day.

In British Columbia the scale is eighty-five cents an hour straight time and $1.20 an hour overtime, with no restrictions in the working hours.

Movement of such cargo as lumber, logs, newsprint and wood pulp, which is produced on Puget Sound and in British Columbia, is being affected by the higher loading costs on this side of the boundary line, shipping men said today.

Representatives of shipping and stevedoring companies which operate in both Puget Sound and British Columbia said today that ports on this side of the international boundary are facing a dangerous situation, which undoubtedly will cause a large amount of ship tonnage to be diverted to British Columbia unless the longshoremen are successful in establishing uniform wages and working hours in all ports on the Pacific Coast.
